May 30, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Hard Bakka Rigging, a company based in Fairfield East, NSW, Australia, offers comprehensive wet-hire crane service to help businesses with their lifting and shifting requirements. A wet-hire crane service is different from the usual dry-hire crane service, where the client only rents the crane. Their wet-hire crane service includes not just the crane but also a fully experienced and trained crane operator. This means the client will not have to worry about finding an experienced and qualified crane operator or being liable for any damages or any unexpected incidents that may happen. Hard Bakka Rigging's expertise is in the steel erection services and also in heavy structure and warehouses.

A spokesperson for Hard Bakka Rigging says, "Unlike dry-hire crane service, where you rent the crane and provide your own operator, our wet-hire crane service includes both the crane and operator. This means that you don't need to worry about finding a qualified crane operator or being liable for any potential accidents or damages that may occur during the lifting process."

Their wet-crane hire service is suitable for a broad variety of lifting and shifting tasks, such as: moving heavy equipment or machinery; lifting and positioning materials like pipes, concrete slabs, or generators; erecting heavy structural steel, roof trusses, purlins, and bracing, including for agricultural farm setups, warehouses, and structures for mining sorting machines; and transportation of heavy loads or shipping containers.

There are various reasons businesses may want to choose the wet-crane hire service provided by Hard Bakka Rigging. First is the expertise of their crane operators who are thoroughly trained and fully experienced in handling different kinds of lifting tasks ensuring that the job for the client will be done efficiently and safely. The second factor is the equipment they provide. They only use well-maintained, high-quality cranes to make sure the job will be done effectively and promptly. The third factor is safety. They always put safety first by taking all of the necessary precautions to reduce the risks of accidents that may happen during the lifting process. The fourth factor is cost-effectiveness. Their wet-hire crane service includes the cost for both crane and operator, which means that there are no hidden fees or unexpected bills to worry about.

Mona, general manager for Hard Bakka Rigging, says, "Our crane hire, fork hire, transport and access solutions are available across NSW and the ACT. We offer innovative, economical and timely solutions for our customers' lifting and access needs with the utmost focus on safety first. We do the jobs that many find too complex, no job is turned away. We will accommodate your project, no matter its magnitude. Our company has the experience and expertise to complete your job safely, efficiently and on time."
