May 10, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

FL based Livingston Party Rentals would like to reach out to Baton Rouge residents who may be looking for a way to make an upcoming party a memorable event. The company supplies various rentals that are guaranteed to elevate any occasion. The company serves the greater Baton Rouge area, offering deliveries to residences and more. Customers may visit its website at <http://www.livingstonpartyrentals.com/> to browse its vast collection of party inflatables and other items.

A division of Ascension Party Rentals, Livingston Party Rentals is fully insured and family-run. It understands how important parties are as an opportunity to bond and create memories with family and friends. The team knows exactly what a memorable party can do for familial and friendly relations, and every member is proud to play a part in contributing to their community's best events.

The company specializes in inflatable fun for backyard parties. It also supplies inflatables for school and church functions, however, in addition to corporate events. Livingston Party Rentals has a very large inventory of the most popular inflatables, concessions, tents and more, all of which are designed to be safe, fun and easy to use. All of the party rental company's items are sanitized and cleaned before every use, and they are delivered and set up on schedule every time.

Water slides are among the most popular party inflatables, and Livingston Party Rentals has no shortage of options to choose from. Dunk tanks, slides and splash islands are just a few of the inflatable water slide or water slide-related items that are available. Obstacle courses are another party favorite, and like everything else, Livingston has a wide variety to choose from. The company also has combo inflatables, toddler inflatables and more. Party planners are welcome to browse Livingston's list of party inflatables and inquire about anything that catches their eye. Visit <https://g.page/livingstonparty?share> for more.

Livingston strives to ensure that customers get a fair deal. This goes beyond simply offering low rates. The company understands that the nature of their business means that bad weather is guaranteed to present an obstacle of sorts, so it has fairly lenient policies in place for occasions where the weather turns bad. As long as the customer informs Livingston Party Rentals over the phone or by email at least six hours before their scheduled setup window, the company will not impose cancellation fees. Other party rental companies may require that their customers cancel at least 24 hours, but the company's policies ensure a more stress- and fee-free cancellation experience.

The party rental company has been delivering fun since 2003 making them the most experienced and knowledgeable party rental company in the area. Under the leadership of Austin Watts, the owner, Livingston Party Rentals has become the preferred supplier of party inflatables in Livingston and the company continues to grow.

The company has managed to build an excellent reputation among party planners in Livingston. Their excellent customer service, commitment to excellence and their wide selection of inflatables are just some of the reasons why Livingston residents choose to work with the company.

One review of the company says, "We used Livingston Party Rentals Easter weekend to get a combo inflatable. They were amazing! The inflatable was so much fun and great quality! The service could not have been better. I had a ton of questions when preparing to place the order, and the lady was so patient with me and answered all of my questions. The price was fair, and the gentlemen that delivered and picked it back up were very nice and very professional. I will definitely be using this company again!?"

Visit the company's Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/livingstonpartyrentals/> for more information about Livingston Party Rentals. The Livingston Party Rentals team is always happy to help customers take their events to the next level, and looking through their catalog is the easiest way to start putting together a memorable party.
