Northwestern Hair Restoration, a hair restoration clinic in Chicago, IL, is proud to announce they have received more five star reviews. The clinic, which offers a hair restoration procedure called follicle unit extraction (FUE), has received more than 200 reviews on Google and has an overall rating of 5.0 out of 5 stars. A distinct hair restoration method that they use is the Micro FUE, which is a variation of the FUE method that uses minimally invasive collection by reticular oscillation (MICRO). This involves the gentle collection of healthy hairs through vibration and suction. This offers the benefit of healthier looking hairs through Micro FUE, compared to the seemingly unnatural hairs provided through the standard FUE technique.

In a recent customer review, Saad A. gave them a five star rating and said, "Dr. Vinay is a caring, ethical, and knowledgeable physician who takes his time with his patients and gives them the care they deserve. He utilizes the full breadth of the latest techniques available to give his patients the best outcome possible. You can trust Dr. Vinay." In another five star review, Ari A. said, "Very helpful information and very nice doctor." Lisa S. also gave them five stars and said, "Highly recommend Northwest Hair Restoration! My husband has amazing results and we couldn't be more pleased. Staff is outstanding as well."

One important factor that makes customers satisfied with Northwestern Hair Restoration is that the process begins with a one-on-one consultation with the physicians but with no high-pressure sales. The consultation will simply be a discussion of the different options for the patient. In addition to Micro FUE, they can also provide the Smart Graft, which is the most advanced technology that provides excellent results at a reasonable price. Also available is Discrete FUE, which doesn't necessitate the buzz cut to ensure discreteness and a more natural look.

A spokesperson for Northwestern Hair Restoration says, "Micro FUE is one of the unique hair transplantation techniques in use today. In fact, it is one of the techniques becoming increasingly popular in hair restoration clinics worldwide. A Micro FUE procedure essentially takes the opposite approach to the standard FUE (Follicular Unit Extraction) technique used by all hair restoration surgeons. Overall, Micro FUE procedures are a natural, more precise way to obtain donor hair for a hair transplant procedure. However, that's not to say we think it's the only option available or that you can't be successful with traditional hair transplantation. So whether you go for FUE or FUT, look for a highly experienced surgeon to ensure you get the best results with your hair replacement procedure.?

Once the patient has decided on the specific procedure for hair restoration, an estimate of the total cost of the procedure is provided. This cost is primarily based on the number of grafts that will need to be done. The number of grafts needed is estimated based on the size of the patient's head, skin color, hair thickness, hair color, and hair waviness. To make it easy on the budget, they also offer financing, which is available for six months, 24 months, or 36 months.

Northwestern Hair Restoration has some of the top hair restoration doctors in Chicago. They are: Vinay Rawlani, MD; Carmen Ramirez, DSc, and Clark Schierle, MD PhD. Dr. Rawlani is a physician-inventor and was a recipient of the Louis E Fazen Endowed Scholarship from the Northwestern Medical School. He firmly believes in natural and discrete hair replacement methods. Dr. Schierle, who established Northwestern Hair Restoration, started earning his MD/PhD at Harvard at the age of 16 and had a significant role in transforming the clinic into a leader in FUE and hair restoration. Meanwhile, Dr. Ramirez, with her Doctorate in Science and 23 years of experience, is one of the top physicians in trichology in hair restoration.

Those who are interested in finding a hair restoration clinic in Chicago can visit the Northwestern Hair Restoration website or contact them through the phone or by email. They are open from 8:00 am to 5:00 pm, from Monday to Friday.
