PSS International Removals have an outstanding record of outstanding customer service to individuals, families, and organisations who need to relocate domestically or overseas. Their focus is on Personal Shipping Services for international locations. They know that moving to a new country is an exciting and transformative experience, and at the same time, it can also be a complex and stressful endeavour for their customers, who may only use their service once when they relocate abroad.

The firm took a decision to ensure that customer service and support were core to the business, knowing that as individuals, families, and organisations embark on their international relocation journeys, they would find it necessary to partner with a trusted and experienced removals company. PSS International Removals is a leader in the industry and is proud to offer its expertise and unparalleled services to ensure a seamless and hassle-free international move.

Liam Witham, CEO of PSS International Removals, stated, "As a leading international removal company in the UK, specialising in overseas and European moves, we have thrived even with many challenges in the industry over the past four decades. Our expertise extends beyond mere removals; we provide a holistic range of services, including secure storage, vehicle transportation, and hassle-free shipping of belongings, catering to aspects of our customers' relocation needs."

The company's reputation is built upon excellent service. As one customer notes, PSS has been very easy to deal with and helpful throughout the shipping of our goods to Australia. The staff have been patient and responded quickly to the many questions I have raised with them."

Another customer says the company provided a "Friendly, helpful and professional service! From the initial courtesy call to the guys who came and packed our belongings, everyone has been helpful and made the move less stressful than it could have been!?"

The company's stellar reputation is key to its success in winning the LUXlife award. Individuals may not have the resources to do the due diligence LUXlife undertakes when assessing nominations and may not be aware that PSS International Removals is accredited by the British Association of Removers (BAR), the independent trade association for the removal industry.

The company offers a wide range of services and assists clients with every aspect of their international move. From packing and unpacking services to secure storage options, they take care of every step of the journey and ensure that all belongings are handled carefully. Their team of skilled professionals is trained to handle fragile and valuable items, using specialised packing materials and techniques to provide safe transportation.
