June 16, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Utah based iFOAM of Layton is offering their spray foam insulation services to local residents. Spray foam insulation is an easy-to-install, highly effective alternative to traditional insulation, and iFOAM, is now providing spray foam insulation installation all over the state. See more here: Visit Company Website.

Spray foam insulation is sprayed into the gaps where traditional insulation would go. It comes in the form of an easy-to-spray foam that hardens after a few hours, creating a highly effective insulating seal. It is easier ? and often cheaper and faster ? to install than most types of insulation, while still offering excellent protection from the elements.

As one of the most modern and innovative insulation contractors in Layton, iFOAM is trusted by numerous homeowners with foam installations. Despite the relative ease of installation, an unqualified contractor may still apply the foam incorrectly, leading to gaps in the insulation and the need for expensive reinstallation later on. iFOAM?s contractors are certified experts with plenty of experience in both open and closed cell foam insulation, and customers can always expect the job to be done right on the first attempt.

The company places a lot of value in customer satisfaction. iFOAM says, "We utilize a holistic and thorough approach every step of the way when it comes to your next home install. This is because it's not just a house, it's your home that you're entrusting with our team. We take that seriously. That's why you deserve a process that doesn't oversell you or cut corners. We get you the services you need at the price you can afford and oversee your project with certified experts to ensure a quality project, every time. That's the iFOAM process."

The first step in any iFOAM installation is homeowner assessment. This where the iFOAM team works with the customer to ensure that their insulation project is custom-fit for the specific needs of the home in question. They perform a comprehensive home energy audit as well, during which they examine the entirety of the property to find air leaks, inefficiencies and more. Once all the assessments are complete, iFOAM performs an assessment review whereby they take the customer through a thorough explanation of their home's health and energy efficiency before submitting a proposal. Should the customer indicate that they are ready to move forward, iFOAM offers a list of solutions that can improve the comfort level of their home (along with financing options).

The final step is to schedule a date for installation, following which the actual installation will take place. iFOAM prides itself on the high quality of work they produce. They also make it a point to leave their customers' homes completely spotless after every job.

The company is dedicated to utilizing the latest technology to assess and insulate the homes of their customers in Layton. They tackle each project using high quality insulation products and techniques that have withstood the test of time, producing great results wherever they go. Learn more: Visit Web Site.

iFOAM is a US insulation franchise that specializes in spray foam but also provides other services, including blown-in insulation installation, insulation removal, retrofitting and other specialty services. The company was built on the idea of offering quality, trustworthy services provided by certified specialists. iFOAM's dedication to excellence has earned the insulation contractor an excellent reputation among homeowners in Layton.

"We are very happy we had the iFOAM crew install our insulation in our building remodel on main street in Bountiful," says a review of the insulation contractor. "Their pricing was competitive, and their installers were very detail-oriented."

For more information, customers may visit iFOAM's website. They can also find the company's address online (along with excellent reviews). iFOAM has revolutionized the local insulation installation industry through their quality services, and homeowners can always be sure they are getting the best when they choose to work with iFOAM.
