June 14, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Intercoastal Public Adjusters has launched their offices serving San Antonio, TX. They are ready to help those who have suffered an insurable property loss in San Antonio and nearby areas. Their services offered for property owners in San Antonio and neighboring areas include hurricane insurance claims, storm damage insurance claims, water damage insurance claims, mold insurance claims, fire insurance claims, vandalism insurance claims, residential property claims, and commercial property insurance claims.

Scott Mauldin from Intercoastal Public Adjusters San Antonio says, "Our extensive experience in the areas of construction, roofing, insurance adjusting, restoration, and public adjusting has shown us that there is a real need for education surrounding property damage insurance claims processing, especially in the wake of hurricanes like Harvey, Irma, Florence and Michael. Most people don't even know that you can hire your own representation when filing a property claim. We believe in education and would be happy to provide a free consultation to better understand your situation and guide you in any way we can."

They also want to point out that the burden of proof lies on the shoulders of the policyholder. The insurance company can deny the claim or be significantly undervalued if the property loss is not correctly presented to the insurance firm. One of the vital roles played by Intercoastal Public Adjusters San Antonio is to carefully review the policy, deductibles, endorsements, etc., before filing a claim. This is because reversing denials is much more time-consuming and harder compared to ensuring the property loss is correctly presented.

Intercoastal Public Adjusters San Antonio can also provide help to commercial property and homeowners association (HOA) damage claims. These commercial claims need professional navigation and they will ensure that clients are completely indemnified by the insurance company for the damages to the property of the commercial enterprise or HOA. They can schedule a consultation with the client or their board of directors to provide answers that they may have about their insurance claim and their public adjuster services.

Scott Mauldin says, "Intercoastal Public Adjusters are licensed in Texas to represent the interests of insured property owners on insurance claims. Our main job is to assess damage to the property, document the loss, and negotiate a settlement with the insurance company. It is a complicated process to recover from a hurricane, and homeowners may be required to file multiple insurance claims. Intercoastal Public Adjusters of Dallas can simplify the process by educating homeowners about their policies and guiding them through proper documentation."

The services provided by public adjusters is important because many people have difficulties in understanding the technical language and procedures for insurance policies. This issue becomes even worse after suffering a loss. Since professional adjusters are experienced with regard to how insurance companies work, they are experienced and knowledgeable to assist the client in successfully navigating the claims process.

In addition, the public adjusters will only get paid after the claims process has succeeded. The fee is a small percentage of the final settlement account. It is important to note that public adjusters are most in demand in the aftermath of a natural disaster.

Intercoastal Public Adjusters was established to offer help to homeowners and other property owners with their insurance claims for damages resulting from a storm or hurricane or other catastrophic events. They have substantial experience with regard to roofing, construction, insurance adjusting, and restoration. Their public adjusters have all been certified by the state and are capable of representing the interests of the policyholder during discussions with the insurance company about claims. They can also provide assistance in the correct estimation of their losses, the project costs of repairs, and appropriate settlement for the client. They can handle all types of property claims, including fire, appliance failures, hurricanes, water damage, and damage caused by snow, ice, and catastrophic events.

Those interested in the insurance claims processing services provided can check out the Intercoastal Public Adjusters San Antonio website or contact them by telephone or email.
