June 22, 2023

SANTA MONICA, CA - June 22, 2023 -
For experienced and reliable LA in home private nursing, NurseRegistry is the go-to private duty nursing company in California. With a network of over 500 professional, licensed nurses, NurseRegistry hand-picks only RNs and LVNs for their clients to ensure they receive the best care for their needs. NurseRegistry was established with the mission to reimagine the healthcare industry and allow individuals the opportunity to receive exemplary hospital-quality care and treatment from the comfort of their home.

?I couldn?t be more proud of the work we do at NurseRegistry,? says company CEO Melissa Fischer, LVN. ?The need for private in-home nursing has never been higher. Through our services, we help our clients get matched with an experienced, reputable LVN or RN. Our services also empower nurses with the autonomy to choose their own schedule and clients, something that is not available in a traditional hospital or general home health care environment. This allows for highly specialized nursing, with actual happy and content nurses, that is personalized to each client.?

NurseRegistry exclusively staffs RNs and LVNs to guarantee only top nursing talent. All nurses that work with NurseRegistry must go through an extensive vetting process, including local and national criminal background checks, license verifications, reference checks, and more. While the interviewing process is very strict, this is how clients can be confident they are getting only the best of the best in nursing.

?Along with our extensive vetting process, we only hire nurses who can demonstrate empathy, a high attention to detail, expertise in their given fields, and show us that they genuinely care for their patients? wellbeing,? says Fischer.

The process of getting matched with a nurse near Los Angeles is simple through NurseRegistry, Fischer says. First, clients can call or visit NurseRegistry.com online and explain their nursing needs to the team. Then clients will sign a contract and their intake specialists will initiate a search for the right nurse. Finally, the client services team will send the client their best matches, and once a nurse is selected, in-home care will begin. There is no commitment to use their services or any upfront costs. Each nurse and staff member part of NurseRegistry is trained in HIPPA compliance, and the company also offers help with signing NDAs for clients who want that extra line of security.

?Dealing with a health condition is already stressful enough, which is why at NurseRegistry, we seek to eliminate stress and streamline the process of getting private in-home nursing,? says Fischer.

When it comes to the benefits of NurseRegistry and private in-home nursing, Fischer says there are many. The company offers highly specialized nursing, patient privacy, nurse availability (whether needed for 2 hours or 24/7 care), a quick response time, flexible scheduling (for clients and nurses), and nursing care for all ages. Even if a client needs a nurse at the last minute, NurseRegistry is available to help clients get a qualified nurse as quickly as possible.

For their private duty nursing services, NurseRegistry?s healthcare professionals can complete a number of services for their clients. Private duty nurses offer support with post-op care, medication management, wellness checks, respite care, palliative care, hospice care, airway/ventilation care, pediatric care, IV Therapy, and in-home teaching visits.

In terms of their success track for the Los Angeles private duty nursing company, NurseRegistry has won the Best of Staffing Talent Award 4 years in a row. They are also a Highly Recommended Business by locals on Alignable. Plus, they have received an A+ rating from the BBB since 2010.

Pricing for a private duty in-home nurse varies on the client?s type of care, the type of licensure of the nurse they are selecting to work with, and the hours and duration of care. Because NurseRegistry is a private pay company, clients aren?t limited to the confines of health insurance. With NurseRegistry, clients are in complete control of the type of care they receive and how often they receive it.
