

Australian Local SEO Expert Made Simple One-Click SEO System

December 14, 2015

December 14, 2015 -
Webitrix Media, a business in Perth, WA, Australia, has announced that, just three months after launching their new website, they have now updated their homepage. The new update gives greater clarity about the services the company offers and what they can do for others. Most importantly, it enables people to start the process of working with Webitrix through a simple, one-click system.

"Our new website launched very successfully," says Mitch Kono from Webitrix Media. "However, we felt that we were not sufficiently focused on the modern internet user, expecting people to click through various points before getting to their destination. We're happy to see that customers, who already had positively received our new website, are equally liking the new homepage."

Webitrix Media, as can be seen on webitrix.com, is a leading expert on local SEO (search engine optimisation) services in Perth, if not all of Australia. They offer a full SEO service, including web design. Through their work, they have enabled clients to see a notable increase in the number of visitors to their websites. This, in turn, translates to a larger customer database and, eventually, more profits.

The work completed by the company have been greatly respected by their many clients. "Fleetwood engaged Webitrix to develop a website for an online sales channel for our accommodation facilities," says Dominic Letts from Fleetwood in Perth. "The work was done quickly and efficiently. The sales generated through our website have been outstanding. We continue to use Webitrix for SEO and other works and would recommend them to others."

This SEO expert in Australia feels that their new homepage will better enable clients to get the work that they need completed. Through a single click, they can get started on determining what their needs are. The first step is to complete the SEO Audit, which Webitrix offers completely free of charge. This audit will show businesses what the current status of their website is in terms of visibility and online authority, and what Webitrix could do for them in order to improve that. They will also demonstrate just how big of an improvement that could be.
