San Francisco, CA - Migraine sufferers often feel overwhelmed by the many treatment options available, leading to confusion and frustration. The debilitating impact of migraines extends beyond physical pain, affecting work productivity, family life, and social engagements while also causing fatigue, worry, and fear. The Balanced Atlas, a trusted chiropractic practice in San Francisco, is proud to introduce NUCCA Chiropractic Care as a unique and effective solution for migraines.

Migraines are often linked to misalignments in the upper cervical spine, where the head and neck join. Unlike other spine areas, this region lacks interlocking joints, making it prone to shifting from its normal position. Such misalignments can lead to various problems and significantly impact the protection of the spinal cord and brainstem and the regulation of blood flow to and from the brain. Nerves and blood vessels running through the upper neck play a vital role in the pathophysiology of migraines. NUCCA care focuses on aligning the structures surrounding these delicate areas, often prominent issues in individuals suffering from migraines.

Research shows that people with migraine illness have a nervous system that is not functioning optimally. Their nervous system tends to overreact to stimuli, resulting in an abnormal wave of brain activity that ultimately triggers a headache. Calming and clearing the nervous system is crucial to solving the migraine puzzle. NUCCA Chiropractic Care offered by The Balanced Atlas aims to address these underlying issues and restore proper nervous system function, providing long-term relief from migraines.

Dr. Harrison, the leading NUCCA chiropractor at The Balanced Atlas, brings expertise and credentials to his practice. He earned his Doctorate in Chiropractic from Palmer College of Chiropractic in Davenport, Iowa, where he also taught NUCCA to students and focused on the technique during his clinical studies. Additionally, Dr. Harrison holds a Bachelor of Science in Exercise Physiology with a minor in Aquatic Therapy from West Virginia University. He has improved his skills and gained valuable experience through positions at reputable chiropractic clinics, including a senior associate doctor role at Precision Spinal Care in Virginia Beach, Virginia.

Dr. Harrison's dedication to NUCCA Chiropractic Care is exemplified by his pursuit of full NUCCA Board Certification, an honor held by fewer than 40 NUCCA doctors worldwide since the organization's establishment in 1966. The NUCCA Board Certification is the most demanding and rigorous testing of a doctor's adjusting and x-ray work within the field of Chiropractic. Patients at The Balanced Atlas can be assured of receiving a precise upper cervical NUCCA correction at every visit, as Dr. Harrison's work undergoes constant evaluation by other Certified NUCCA doctors to exceed NUCCA Board standards.

Conveniently located at 2121 19th Ave Suite 100 in San Francisco, The Balanced Atlas provides a welcoming and state-of-the-art facility for patients seeking NUCCA Chiropractic Care. With flexible business hours from Monday to Thursday, and a dedicated team committed to patient care, The Balanced Atlas ensures that individuals can easily access the treatment they need to alleviate migraines and improve their overall well-being.

The Balanced Atlas offers hope for those seeking a drug-free and non-invasive solution to migraines. With NUCCA Chiropractic Care, patients can experience lasting relief from migraines and regain control over their lives.
