Oil Rigs Now, a business in Houston, TX, has been expanding its services. They are proud to announce that they now also work with companies across Mexico, offering them land rigs for sale and more. These companies have been full of praise about the high quality drilling equipment that Oil Rigs Now has offered, for both onshore and offshore oil and gas exploration and production.

"The national market for drilling rigs is slumping, with the dropping of the price of oil," says Michael Mulkern from Oil Rigs Now. "At the same time, however, other countries like Mexico must keep drilling and mine for their own supplies and we are happy to have become a trusted provider of equipment and tools on the global market."

The company has also found that when they put jackup rigs for sale on the international market, they became incredibly popular. These rigs are used for offshore drilling up to 400 feet of water depth, and they have to be compliant with very stringent international regulations. Companies have to ensure they meet environmental regulations as well. Oil Rigs Now is fully compliant with all those regulations, which is one of the reasons why they are now so popular across the world.

"Oil rigs are incredibly complex equipment and machines and it is vital that they are created following all the necessary guidelines and regulations," says Chad K. "I have to make sure that all my employees are safe when they are on the rig and that the equipment are fully functional. I know that I can count on Oil Rigs Now to deliver on that equipment and that it will always be of the highest possible quality. Not just that, but because they offer finance options, I know I can always get the equipment I need without having to worry about going over my budget. Thanks Oil Rigs Now for your continued support."

As an oilfield equipment broker, Oil Rigs Now is able to find any and all equipment necessary for this industry.
