Status Transportation, a business in Winter Garden, FL, has announced that they have recently moved to a new location, although still in the same city. It is just a few miles away from their previous office and it boasts of convenient access for tractor trailers. Additionally, it is close to all major highways so it is easily accessible from all directions.

"We love our new location and it is just so much more convenient for everybody involved as well," says Katherine, a spokesperson from the company. "As an owner operating company, we have independent contractors with semi-trucks coming in and out all the time, and we needed some more space. Our new office is just perfect as it is easy to access and has lots of room."

The company is always on the lookout for people who own semi-trucks. They will provide flatbeds or dry-vans, or the contractors can bring their own trailer. Those who link up to Status Transportation can enjoy steady pay at great rates and long distance hauls as well. Because it is such an interesting employment opportunity, they are very popular and there is a daily coming and going of trucks on their grounds. The new location is far more suitable for that type of activity.

The various Status Transportation reviews also show just how respected the company is. "I have been working with Status Transportation for about three years now," says owner operator Douglas. "I have been driving since 2000 and have worked for numerous companies. For me, so far, this has been the best company as far as flexibility and home time. The loads are very consistent, they pay well. It's a very good company to work for. What they say is what happens. I plan on sticking around."

The various owner operators that work through the company have also mentioned that they like the new premises. In fact, the only complaint they had about the company in the past was that they would sometimes waste a lot of time trying to get in and out of the grounds because of the inappropriate location. Now that they have moved, this issue has been fully resolved.
