December 15, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Rightnow Products Limited, which is a company based in Central Hong Kong, has announced that they are increasing their production volume of their knee braces after noticing a rising trend in their use. A technical market research company has confirmed the rise in demand as can be seen at <https://www.whatech.com/market-research/medical/108579-research-delivers-insight-into-the-global-orthopedic-braces-and-supports-market>. This report discusses some of the reasons behind why more people have started to use knee braces.

Founder of Rightnow Products Limited Eric Arnow says: "We have been marketing our knee braces for quite some time and, while they have always been popular, we have seen a recent surge in demand. It was very interesting for us to see the latest report in why more people are using braces. Luckily, we have no problems in meeting an increased demand and have simply stepped up production."

The report found that there are a number of reasons behind the increase in the popularity of braces. Firstly, this is because people are starting to become more aware of them and their benefits. Secondly, the population is aging and this includes the baby boomers, which means there are more elderly people who want to be able to continue to live an active life, but are discovering, to their dismay, that their knees are starting to weaken. Thirdly, there is a corresponding rise in the prevalence of diseases affecting the elderly, including vascular disease, diabetes and osteoarthritis. And finally, there is a rising need for braces for post-operative rehabilitation and non-invasive treatment.

The Rightnow knee braces have been available on Amazon for some time through <http://www.amazon.com/dp/B016WQW7A6>, where they have received numerous positive reviews. "This product does everything it says it does," says one happy customer. "It comes as a pair(2). It fits nicely(M/L). You can wear it all day and even when you sleep. It comes in a smaller size if needed. Remember to measure your knee. For-Knees really cares for their customers health. They have great customer service. They answer all questions. For-Knees will improve your knees, better than they are now. You owe it to yourself to try."

Because of this increase in popularity, Rightnow Products Limited has also released a 50% off coupon for those who purchase the knee braces directly through the For-Knees website. More details can be found at <http://for-knees.com/293-2>.
