July 31, 2023 -
GA-based Paramount Roofing & Consulting is making the full extent of its roofing services available to residents in Douglasville and the surrounding areas. The company performs maintenance, repairs, and installations with a variety of materials, and customers may get in touch today for a quick roofing estimate.

Roof issues can be incredibly frustrating to deal with, and such problems are only exacerbated if a homeowner does not have a trusted roofing contractor to turn to in their time of need. Paramount Roofing & Consulting aims to be that roofer for everyone in Douglasville, and the company has already made excellent headway with regard to this goal.

?When you have a roof leak, need new shingles, or have an ongoing emergency that requires immediate professional attention,? owner Otis Floyd states, ?you can always turn to Paramount Roofing & Consulting. We can handle virtually all your roofing needs, and you can rest assured we will not compromise on quality or safety.?

Paramount Roofing & Consulting also believes in maintaining transparency at every stage. This is evident from the moment the customer first gets in touch, and it is upheld throughout every interaction they have moving forward. As such, customers can expect the company to be upfront at all times. This includes the estimates provided, updates on progress, and more.

The company offers a number of roofing options, each of which can meet a specific need. A homeowner?s requirements may change depending on where their property is located, what their goals are, their budget, and so on, but Paramount Roofing & Consulting can always find a solution that addresses all relevant concerns. As one of the top roofers in Douglasville, GA, Paramount Roofing & Consulting is available for all its community?s roofing needs.

In most cases, this may involve repairs, but the company says homeowners are encouraged to request inspections if they are worried about their roofs at all. Some issues, according to Paramount Roofing & Consulting, may not be obvious at a glance, and unless the damage can be seen from the ground, it is unlikely to be spotted. Similarly, it is not recommended that homeowners climb up to their roofs for a closer look since they are unlikely to have the appropriate safety equipment.

Paramount Roofing & Consulting, however, is licensed and insured to perform all manner of roofing tasks, and they can dispatch a team to look at a roof and ensure it is intact and working as intended. They also encourage homeowners to contact the team immediately if they are experiencing an emergency.

Paramount Roofing & Consulting?s commitment to customer service has made the company a favorite in the communities it serves. The team boasts a perfect 5-star rating online, with scores of reviews from satisfied customers who now trust no one else with their roofing needs.

Elle D. comments in a review, ?Mr. Floyd and his team did a phenomenal job. Mr. Floyd provided a detailed estimate, accompanied by professional quality photos. He even assisted with the communication to my insurance company which helped expedite my claim. Once the approval was signed off on, his team began the work. His team was prompt, courteous and meticulous about install and clean up. I am extremely happy with the finished work.?

Another customer, Lionel L., says, ?I had a wind and rain damaged roof that was leaking. These guys showed up, stopped the leak and worked with me to get a good price on replacing the entire roof. They promised it would be done in a day and kept their word. They even did a terrific clean up, and there's not a nail to be found on my property. I know because I went looking for them since I have a young kid who runs around barefoot and a dog. Highly recommend this team.?

The roofer has worked hard to ensure that every Paramount Roofing & Consulting customer review is as positive as possible, reflective of an exemplary experience and service. Anyone looking for such an experience need only contact Paramount Roofing & Consulting by phone or email to get started. The company can also be found on social media.
