

Introducing a New Way to Buy Junk Cars in Minneapolis

December 10, 2015

December 10, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Locally awarded car buying company, Car Buyer Minnesota, has recently launched a new web-based service that allows them to offer the highest cash payments for any make, or model automobile, regardless of age, or condition. New software developed by the company promises to change the way industry insiders buy junk cars.

In a recent interview, company representative Michael Costigan said, "There will never be a simpler, more cost effective way for a private seller to offload their unwanted vehicles. This software changes everything."

In the not too distant past, the only available avenue open to private consumers looking to get rid of an old, wrecked, or simply unwanted auto was either to take it to a used car dealer where they could expect to be offered the lowest possible value, or go through the time consuming process of placing multiple ads, which costs money, and then waiting around for random strangers to come take look.

Anyone who has ever sold a vehicle this way understands the frustration of missed appointments, buyers who just want to look, endless test-drives, and low-ball offers that fall short of the expected value.

Sellers in the Minneapolis area are being invited to "test drive" the company's new proprietary software, which combs the region for similar vehicles in the immediate area allowing the company to offer the most money for any car regardless of its condition, a guarantee the company makes on its website.

Anyone looking to try the service is invited to call or visit the website, where they can speak to a representative who will ask a few simple questions about the condition of the vehicle. Once an appointment has been made, an expert in automobile assessment will come to the location of the car or truck and use their years of experience in the industry, along with the new software, to arrive at a competitive value for the car.

They will consider the make and model, as well as the mileage and overall condition of the vehicle and make an offer to buy based on those findings. The company says that the benefit of having access to local purchasing data is what allows them to offer more cash for used vehicles than any other car buying service.
