To make sure the tap is operating properly, the team at Zebra Plumbing will also clean and lubricate some components. If a tap is beyond repair, it might occasionally need to be replaced entirely. The team of plumbers will test the tap after the repair is complete to make sure it is functioning properly and is no longer leaking.

To ensure that the washer sits against a flat surface, does not cause further damage to the breach from leaks, and creates a perfect seal, the parts can be machined on-site. The team also makes use of special washers that are much more durable and guarantee that leaks and dripping taps will not be an issue in the future. While many businesses may offer a generalised service, Zebra Plumbing guarantees plumbers who specialise in burst pipe repairs and have the necessary tools and training to complete any job in this category.
