August 04, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

iFOAM of Southeast Denver is helping local homeowners upgrade their property with the best in residential insulation to reduce their power bills and be comfortable in Colorado's harsh weather conditions. For more information, visit web site.

Spray foam is one of the most sought-after insulation materials in residential construction due to its high efficiency and versatility. Boasting a high R-value, the industry specification that measures an insulating material's efficiency, spray foam also expands to fill in tiny gaps which cannot be replicated with most other forms of insulation.

"Spray foam starts out as a pressurized liquid," says Mike Glassman, the owner of iFOAM of Southeast Denver, "and then expands to fill in the trickiest and most problematic spaces. This allows us to create an airtight seal that traps all the heat within the property. It has also been proven to keep out air pollutants and helps with soundproofing buildings."

The advantages of using spray foam are two-fold. First, it can help improve the energy efficiency of a home by up to 30% which directly leads to significantly lower monthly power bills. Second, the airtight seal it creates allows it to combat air filtration which helps homeowners reduce seasonal allergies and mold and improve indoor air quality.

Insulation needs vary from property to property, Mike says. Give us a call today and we will be on our way to offer you an accurate assessment that is tailor-made for your home's needs. Our experts use state-of-the-art technology and have years of experience in the industry ensuring that we get the full picture of your home's insulation needs. The owner, Mike Glassman, is a successful entrepreneur who has owned several businesses during his time living in San Francisco and New York. After a decade and a half of running successful ventures nationwide, he came back to his hometown of Denver to serve the community he loves and cherishes. At iFOAM, he is aided by his VP of Sales Colin Bolling who holds an MBA and MS in Real Estate.

Mike talks about his reasons for coming back to Denver and choosing iFOAM for his next business venture by saying, Do what you say and say what you do. These are the words I live by and value when I'm looking for someone to collaborate with. iFOAM, with its hundreds of locations across the nation, has a stellar track record of always keeping its promises. They do what they say and help homeowners significantly save on their energy bills. So, running the Southeast Denver location of iFOAM allows me to share the benefits of the company's reliable and effective foam insulation services with the community that shaped me into who I am today.

The company has received several 5-star recommendations from clients praising its helpful and communicative staff, the professionalism of its crew members, and the reliable results that it gets for homeowners.

J Lynch says, Can't say enough about the company and staff at iFOAM. I was hesitant about spray foam insulation at first but they educated me, quoted me an affordable price, and completed the job in a timely manner. My power bill has dropped significantly!?

J Thomas says, iFOAM came and gave me a quote the same day I called. The representative was excellent he explained the whole process and what they would need. My project is a complete rehabilitation of a house that was demo down to the studs.?
