Kansas, MO - One of the most sought after dental products to hit the online market has been mouth guards. Some complaints expressed by online shoppers about these products are that they are not affordable, tend not to fit to the user's mouth well and do not have good customer support. The vendor MKC products through ProDental has created a set of professional dental guards that seeks to resolve all of these problems. They have released a three in one mouth guard that offers maximum versatility and comfort with excellent customer support.

The mouth guards from ProDental come in a package of three to ensure customers receive enough to last for multiple purposes. The dental guards can be used to act as a teeth grinding night guard, an athletic mouth guard or as teeth whitening trays.

ProDental highlighted that this is the only mouth guard product on the market that has direct dentist support. The mouth guards are designed by a dentist and well supported by this manufacturer. The purchaser can contact the company either by email or phone for superior customer support. This can include simple questions about the product or more advanced assistance such as with the molding and fitting process which some customers require additional help with. According to the company, dental lab support is also provided at no additional charge if the mouth guard needs modification to guarantee the best fit for the customer.

This great customer support is coupled with an affordable price to make these professional dental guards a top seller in its category on Amazon. One satisfied customer Jennifer Gaffney stated, "Finally! An affordable solution to my relentless (unconscious) clenching. So pleased with these. They're easy to use."

The night guard is made from thermoplastic polyvinyl material that makes it customizable for the user's differing mouth and teeth dimensions. With some dental guards, the device may drop out the mouth or not fit well. These dental guards by ProDental can be molded for a precise fit. The product can work for a wide variety of teeth alignments, tooth size and mouth shapes.

The night guard comprise of many other benefits that make it well appreciated by online shoppers. The product is BPA-Free and FDA Approved. It is manufactured in the USA to be a long lasting mouth guard. The polyvinyl material it is made from is odor free and taste free.

Customers can buy three of any of MKC Products and receive 10% off their order total. They can access this discount by entering the code GA57BTBW at checkout on Amazon.
