Sarah Henry, a top-rated family law attorney in Greenville, South Carolina, is offering guidance and legal representation in all areas of family law with the highest level of personalized service.

Issues involving the members of a family can get highly emotionally charged as the love that once bonded individuals together often get flipped on its head to give rise to feelings of loss and betrayal. This includes contested divorces, custody, support, and visitation rights for children, alimony and spousal support, restraining orders or orders of protection, and more.

"When feelings are running high, it is easy to lose sight of the end goal and get caught up in trying to financially and emotionally hurt the other person as much as possible," says Sarah Henry. "As family law lawyers, then, our goal is to communicate, mediate, negotiate, and litigate to help all parties reach an amicable resolution. While some family ties get irrevocably broken, such as after divorce proceedings, our aim is to protect all parties, especially children, from the fallout that follows failed relationships."

Sarah Henry Law summarizes its four main goals as saving its clients money, getting them the best results, being efficient with their time and money, and decreasing their stress. The range of family law services offered by Sarah Henry and her team includes divorce, domestic violence, modifications, the establishment of paternity, adoption, and Termination of Parental Rights (TPR), Department of Social Services (DSS) cases, parental rights and obligations, and much more.

Sarah's track record of defending her clients speaks for itself. After graduating from the University of South Carolina School of Law, she worked in Washington, D.C. for several years for NARUC. She has extensive litigation experience working first for South Carolina Legal Services and then as a Greenville County, 13th Circuit Public Defender for many years. To date, she has helped over 520 clients in almost 350 criminal cases, nearly 80 civil actions, and 75 family cases.

"We realize just how stressful these legal matters can be," says Sarah. "Our experience gives us the know-how to deal with these situations and secure a positive outcome for you that suits both your and your family's long-term needs. With us, you can expect the development of winning strategies and an unparalleled level of individualized attention and service. Call us today to schedule an appointment and discuss what we can do for you."

Sarah Henry Law has received love and support from hundreds of clients who she has defended over the years with her practice of family law, personal injury law, and criminal law. The firm's Google Business Profile even boasts a near-perfect rating of 4.9 out of 5.0 from over 20 reviews. In their testimonials, clients thank Sarah Henry for her caring and considerate guidance and the firm's helpful and responsive customer service.

A recent review says, "I chose Sarah Henry as my legal counsel to advise and represent me as I walked through a divorce. Sarah and Katie were wonderful! Sarah was professional, compassionate, and empathetic as I rolled through a multitude of emotions with the process. She provided sound advice, researched specific items, and brought her best in my defense. I appreciated that in her compassion, she did not waste my time, always considerate of the financial impact of the process. Katie was efficient, responsive, and very helpful. I highly recommend Sarah Henry as an attorney for family issues."

Another client writes, "Sarah and Katie worked fast and accurately on our paperwork. They were great about keeping us informed throughout the process. Sarah was amazing to work with. She talked me through the process. She was very informative and straightforward with the process, progress, and outcomes. Sarah was very aggressive and efficient in fighting for us in court and out of court. Sarah knows her stuff and is very sympathetic to the process of child custody cases. I would recommend."
