Burbank SEO Experts in Burbank, CA, is proud to announce the launch of their SocialPositify.com service. This is a new service that the company offers in order to allow people to get a free account that they can use to research and develop content. They will then be able to simultaneously post this content to Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn. The page is already attracting a lot of attention. Full details are available through Burbank's own website <http://burbankseoexperts.com>.

"We want to encourage everybody to check out our new website and the service we offer through there," says Michael Milauskas from Burbank SEO Experts. "The tools available through the site are designed to increase a website's online presence and overall authority. We're happy to see that it is already becoming very popular."

The company also provides various done-for-you packages. These will effectively automate a system of researching, writing and posting content several times per day. The work already done by the Burbank company have been very positively received by their many customers. "It is no surprise that social media marketing is a vital element of any online marketing campaign," says Andy T. "We all know that, but most of us simply do not have the time to engage in it. I'm so happy I came across Michael's new program, which has basically enabled me to fully outsource all my social media marketing work. The difference has been huge, I have a fantastic online following now and it is really making a difference to my bottom line. Thanks Burbank SEO."

The original announcement of the new service was made through Facebook on <https://www.facebook.com/burbankseoexperts/>. This was liked and shared many different times, which is a demonstration of just how well social media marketing actually works. It is also leading to a lot of people signing up to the system, which means the company is essentially using itself as an example.
