December 16, 2015

December 16, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Burbank, CA business Happy Dog Health is proud to announce the grand opening of the Dachshund Times website. This site is designed to cover current videos and articles specifically about both Dachshund dogs and puppies. These include training information, as well as rescue information.

Andres O from Happy Dog Health says: "The Dachshund is a very special breed of dog and we love it. However, there has been a surge of people who have taken their Dachshunds to shelters and we believe this is because they lack the necessary information about how to train it and care for it. We want to provide people with this knowledge, thereby ensuring that they can give their Dachshund a forever home."

The new website also features notable Dachshunds, which is proving to be a very popular part of the website and shows how much is possible with the proper Dachshund training. The company is encouraging people to submit their own articles and information regarding the subject. If their information is posted, they may even get paid for it. In so doing, they have made the website more of a community, where people can share their love for this incredibly cute breed of dog.

"I wanted a dog for a long time, and preferably a small and funny one," says Karen P. "The Dachshund seemed like my ideal companion. Thanks to Dachshund Times, I have been able to learn lots about their funny behavior and the way they behave. I also decided not to purchase a puppy, but to go to the shelter and adopt a grown dog. I'm so happy to have welcomed Coco to my home and I believe I will be able to give her the best forever home thanks to the Dachshund Times website. I'll update the site with news and information about Coco regularly, as she's a real character."

People are encouraged to visit the new website on <http://dachshundtimes.com/> to find out what the buzz is all about. If they want to share their own Dachshund-related information, they can do so by contacting the company and expressing their interest.
