Ice Break Shipping LLC, a Portland, Oregon-based shipping firm, has announced the availability of logistics consulting services. They offer a number of different shipping options with high levels of consistency through helping clients improve their margins and revenue management in terms of automating sales and customer service.

Ice Break Shipping LLC offers transport by air, ground, or ocean, while claiming to have a 99% claim free cargo delivery service. Their accident rates are currently listed on the company website as being lower than any in the shipping industry, with a high safety-first strategy that has been implemented over the last twenty-five years of business. Potential clients are urged by the company: "for learn more click here." This supplies an inside look, through the use of a YouTube video, about how Ice Break Shipping LLC works, and how they can work for individual businesses.

With their eyes now firmly set on logistics consulting, the company has stated that are both highly experienced in this particular field, and have a drive and passion for the mutual success that comes from working with clients on this subject. The logistics consulting team offers their customer service by phone or through online contact. They have said that they are dependable and ready to help their clients achieve results with just a simple phone call.

Ice Break Shipping LLC encourages potential clients who wish to learn more to visit the company website. The site offers more information on the company, the option to request a free quote on the many services offered, as well as a list of what the company does in terms of shipping and logistics consulting. The site also provides benefits of the business, such as contracts with major railroad transport companies within the United States, access to 1700 stepdecks and 1400 flatbed trailers, some of the best prices in the industry, which they have said will save their clients an average of $250 per shipment, and a number of other advantages like a network of top ranking regional warehouses. They have said the following regarding their ability to properly serve any client:

"Are you looking for a company that can deal with your LTL problems? Do you want the best solution for you, but only at a fraction of the price you would pay with those so-called "big" names? Well, that's what we're here for! We here at IBS (Ice Break Shipping) are here to cater to your shipping needs, however big or small they might be."

Their logistic services also provide flexibility for businesses, which help give them a slight edge over the competition in this industry, along with what they have deemed, "the most cost effective rates you can find."
