Learn to Sing from the Voice Coach to the Stars: Renee Grant-Williams is Back on the Job After Surgery

December 21, 2015

December 21, 2015 -
Acclaimed voice coach Renee Grant-WIlliams is once again taking students after a recent short stint in the hospital for gall bladder surgery.

Grant-Williams has been a fixture on the Nashville music scene for many years and is known as the "voice coach to the stars." Her client list reads like a "who's who" of popular music for decades including, Miley Cyrus, Garth Brooks, Tim McGraw, Faith Hill, Jason Aldean, Christina Aguilera, Keith Urban, Huey Lewis, the Dixie Chicks, Linda Ronstadt, Kenny Chesney, Chicago, Carrie Underwood, Bob Weir (Grateful Dead), Martina McBride, Scott Stapp (Creed), Dave Mustaine (Metallica/Megadeth) and many more.

In addition to singers, Grant-Williams coaches public speakers, attorneys and politicians. She is the author of Voice Power (AMACOM, NY) which was chosen as an Executive Book Summaries selection and endorsed by Paul Harvey. At the request of Barnes & Noble On-Line University she created and taught a course for the speaking voice.

"We are happy to report that Renee was released from the hospital [11.19.15]. She wants to thank each and every one of you for your overwhelming display of support, prayers and comments. Her surgery and care was superb thanks to Dr. Ray, Dr. Rosen and the entire staff at Saint Thomas Midtown Hospital! She is looking forward to a quick recovery so she can continue doing what she loves to do most, teaching singers to sing."

Says a now up and around Renee, "While I was in the hospital last week, I had received a phone call from #?BobWeir from #?TheGratefulDead wanting to come in for more vocal lessons and to give me backstage passes for his [Nashville] show! Missed out on both! Darn gallbladder! Looks like I'll be visiting him in San Francisco real soon!"

Contact Renee's office or ReneeGrantWilliams.com if you or someone you know would like to learn to sing.
