

SEO Experts Move To Kirkland As Seattle Tech Boom Moves Eastward

January 20, 2016

January 20, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

PrometricSEO has moved to Kirkland, WA, to address the needs of the increasing number of tech companies moving to the east of Lake Washington. Despite Seattle's current construction boom, the unprecedented demand for housing and rising rents have been causing local businesses to transfer to locations east of Lake Washington. The Kirkland SEO experts company has also made the move but not because of rental costs but to fulfill the SEO requirements of these companies.

"Seattle's tech boom started on the Eastside, in the early 80s," says Bruce Selin principal at PrometricSEO, LLC. "Now we're seeing a lot of our clients, in other market segments besides tech, choosing the Kirkland/Redmond/Bellevue area because of proximity to a very diverse mix of businesses: aerospace manufacturers, professional service providers, insurance, travel and materials handling to name just a few."

The company, which can also serve Lynnwood SEO requirements, among others, provides a variety of digital marketing solutions to many of these companies. They have recently relocated their offices to Kirkland, Washington to better serve their growing Eastside clientele. Services provided include search engine marketing, local search, social media marketing, web design and development, site scan and malware removal, video production, and customer service solutions.

"We build Page 1 assets for businesses, assets that pay huge dividends long term in order to minimize or eliminate the need for the ongoing expense of paid advertising," adds Bruce Selin.

PrometricSEO encourages everybody to visit their website or contact them directly. Their business is to create more customers for each of their clients. As a way to encourage potential clients to consider this, they offer a free website analysis. This will show them what their current standing is, what can be done to improve on that, and what the effects of improvement would be.

Their Bellevue SEO services have already been very well received by their many clients. "I have really seen a boost in traffic to my website and to my conversion rates," says Atoz P. "When I received my website analysis, I was shocked at how poor my existing standing actually was. By enabling PrometricSEO to implement the changes they have recommended, my site's popularity has skyrocketed, as have my profits."

The company is looking forward to serving more businesses in the Kirkland area and beyond.

###

For more information about PrometricSEO, LLC, contact the company here: PrometricSEO, LLC Bruce Selin 1-800-716-8035 info@prometricseo.com 733 7th Avenue Suite 215 Kirkland, WA 98033

PrometricSEO, LLC

PrometricSEO, LLC is focused on the Seattle Metro market. After developing successful SEO strategies for small to medium sized businesses, PrometricSEO has expanded services to brick and mortar businesses, corporations and other service providers.

Website: <http://prometricseo.com>

Email: info@prometricseo.com

Phone: 1-800-716-8035

