September 05, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

USA House Cash, a company based in Murietta, CA, wants to emphasize that they are offering to buy houses in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, "as is" for cash. This means home sellers need not worry about making repairs, cleaning up the home, or making upgrades. Whatever the reason for selling the home, they are ready to purchase the home. Meanwhile, the housing market in Alberta is on the rise as of July 2023 with detached home prices having increased by 6 percent annually and semi-detached homes having increased by 9 percent annually. According to the Canadian Real Estate Association (CREA), the housing market offers opportunities for both sellers and buyers as it showed signs of stabilization.

A spokesperson for USA House Cash says, "Selling through a realtor may be the best option for those looking to maximize their returns and minimize the work involved in selling their home. However, this comes at a cost as realtors will charge a commission based on the total sale price of your home. Selling your home for cash can be a good option, but it's important to find a reputable cash buyer who is willing to purchase your property at a fair market price. We buy houses Edmonton homeowners want to sell as quickly as possible. We understand the value of a home and are willing to work with people facing hardship so they can get the most out of their properties."

There are many possible reasons for wanting to sell a home as quickly as possible in Edmonton. These include: foreclosure, death in the the family, divorce, high property taxes, burned out landlord, probate, need for repairs, bankruptcy, and moving to another state. Whatever the reason for selling the home quickly, there are various options to choose from. A typical option is to have the home listed with a real estate agent who will take care of the whole process. This is convenient but it comes with a price because realtors charge a commission, which is a percentage of the total selling price of the home.

Another possible option is a for sale by owner (FSBO) arrangement. FSBO transactions offer the benefit of reducing the fees that often come with real estate transactions, such as commissions and closing costs. However, buyers and sellers need to be aware of their legal obligations and rights under the law, which means they may want to hire the services of a lawyer to ensure that the documents and agreements are in order.

Another possibility is to sell the property to an investor. Investors often have the financing to buy a home quickly with cash and they are also willing to buy properties that require some repairs, which can be an advantage for home sellers who don't have the time or the budget to make the repairs. However, investors may not likely offer the same price that sellers would be able to get by selling on the open market depending on a number of factors, such as the condition of the home. Another advantage of selling to an investor is that they can be flexible, such as allowing the home seller to stay in the property during closing or giving them additional time before moving out of the property. Most important of all, because the payment is in cash, there would be possible delays resulting from the buyer having problems in getting the needed home financing.

Apparently, selling the home to an investor offers many advantages, which means selling to an investor is a viable option for homeowners in Edmonton. The only thing to look out for is make sure one is dealing with an honest investor. Home sellers are advised to take a number of steps to ensure the investor is trustworthy, such as checking their online ratings and reviews, scheduling a face-to-face meeting with the investor, and having a written agreement that details the various terms and conditions of the deal.
