The Mabra Law Firm Describes the Common Types of Road Collisions and What to Do After an Accident

September 11, 2023

Atlanta, Georgia - September 11, 2023 -
The Mabra Law Firm, which is based in Atlanta, GA, has provided information on the common types of road collisions and has offered advice on what to do after an accident. These are the most frequent types of accidents the firm has encountered. After a car accident, they advise victims to seek medical attention, even if they have no apparent injuries. Many of the type of collisions they have encountered can cause latent injuries, with the symptoms only becoming apparent after days or weeks. Getting treatment as early as possible can boost the chances of a fast recovery. After getting treatment, the next step would be to consult a personal injury lawyer, regardless of fault.

Ronnie Mabra, founder and managing partner of The Mabra Law Firm says, ?Awareness of common car accidents helps people prepare and potentially reduce yearly accident rates. However, not all accidents can be prevented, and even experienced, defensive drivers may find themselves involved. If you've suffered injuries in an accident through no fault of your own, you may be entitled to compensation. It's advisable to contact an experienced car accident lawyer to ensure you receive the compensation you deserve and prevent exploitation by insurance companies. Rear-end collisions are some of the most common types of car accidents. Drivers are always expected to keep a safe distance from the car in front of them. While laws vary by state, the rear driver is always considered to be at fault in a rear-end collision. Another common type of accident is side-impact collision or T-bone accidents. Such collisions are usually dangerous and usually result in serious injuries of fatalities. It is advisable to always exercise caution even if one has the right of way because other drivers may not always follow traffic rules.

Another common type of accident is a single-vehicle crash. The driver is usually considered to be at fault but there are exceptions, such as when a defective car part caused the accident, the driver swerved to avoid hitting another car, or the road itself was hazardous. Head-on collisions are also some of the frequent car accident types. These are often due to a driver failing to follow traffic signals, a car losing control, or an intoxicated driver veering into oncoming traffic. Such collisions typically cause irreparable damage to the cars involved.

The Mabra Law Firm can handle various kinds of cases, such as: personal injury cases, bicycle accidents, wrongful death, car wreck, 18 wheeler wreck, catastrophic injury, motorcycle wreck, premise liability, and pedestrian crosswalk cases. Ronnie Mabra says, ?Personal injury accidents are, unfortunately, a very common occurrence in Georgia. The police report about 6,296,000 vehicle traffic crashes every year. That doesn?t include the 10 million crashes that people don?t report to the police. If you were recently in a crash and hit by a car, we can help. Otherwise, your medical bills could start to stack up. You?ll have to worry about missing work, losing wages, and covering expenses alone. If you?ve been injured by the negligence of someone else, it?s time to seek legal representation. At The Mabra Firm, we work with you to build a strong case and advocate for you, so you can focus on healing while we pursue just compensation.?

Started in 2007 by Ronnie Mabra, The Mabra Law Firm always strives to provide the best possible services to the people, the community, and the state. He has established a excellent track record of recovering millions of dollars for his clients as a personal injury lawyer in the State of Georgia.
