Pro Pad Inc. (PPI), a business in Mooresville, NC, is proud to announce the launch of sister company, Swiss CNC Solutions. Until now, this particular company only did parts for PPI but now they are open for making parts for others, focusing on contract manufacturing. Full details are available through swisscncsolutions.com.

"We're so happy to have fully launched our new sister company," says Mike Enzwiler from Pro Pad Inc. "Swiss CNC Solutions has been producing parts for us for some time now, and we just know that they are read to take on the world. Committed to quality, I'm sure you will love their work as much as we do."

Swiss CNC Solutions has taken the time to perfect their operations and to decide how they would run their solutions. Their goal is to not just be a machine shop, but to actually enter into a kind of partnership with their many clients. They believe that their expertise on machined parts and components will enable any of their clients to see better results on their product or project, and that these results will be delivered quicker and for a lower price. For the company, the goal is to make other businesses succeed.

The work they have completed in the short time since they have launched their services above and beyond working with PPI have already been very positively reviewed. "I am truly impressed with what this company can do," says Haku R. "They delivered on all my requirements for our fasteners and truly understood the importance of creating products according to our exact specifications. I have no complaints. The work was done much more quickly than I had expected and at an affordable price. Most importantly, they delivered exactly what I needed. I won't shop anywhere else anymore."

The company prides itself on being able to take on low, medium and high volume production, always offering a quick turnaround time. They use superior quality Tsugami machines in order to achieve the highest tolerances possible. Additionally, they can work with a wide range of different materials.
