

Natural Pet Health

EverEase Joint Supplement For Dogs Gets Positive Reviews In US Market

December 18, 2015

December 18, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The Natural Pet Health Co., a business based in Buckinghamshire, United Kingdom, has recently launched their EverEase joint supplement for dogs to the US market, and since then, they have been receiving a wealth of positive reviews through the Amazon.com marketplace.

"I have been giving this to my 8 year old dog for about a week now and have seen noticeable improvements in the way she is moving and playing more," says Tammy S. "She weighs almost 100 lbs but is pretty slim (she is a Lab / Newfoundland mix) so while she has slowed down she still generally gets around ok, she just avoids jumping and takes the stairs more slowly. From the time she started taking the supplement she has been running up the stairs and has been digging her toys out of her hiding spots to bring to us to play."

The company is happy to see that the supplement is so well-received and have increased their stock to be able to meet the continued demand.

"Our product has long been popular elsewhere, with dog owners hailing it as a wonderful product for their pets," says Michael McCullagh from The Natural Pet Health Co. "When we decided to launch it in the US as well, we could only hope it would be met with just as much of a positive attitude. We weren't disappointed. We're really happy that we are now one step closer to ensuring dogs can live a more healthy active life."

This joint supplement for dogs is designed to be quickly absorbed. It is for arthritis pain and other joint issues and it has been found to provide rapid relief,. which in turn, leads to greater mobility. This is particularly important for older dogs, and breeds like the Labrador Retriever, which are known to be more likely to develop joint problems.

One of the reasons why it is believed the product has hit it off so well in the US market is because it is actually made in the USA. Also, all ingredients, which include glucosamine, chondroitin, MSN and hyaluronic acid, are of human grade. As such, people can rest assured that their furry friends are given the best care possible.

###

For more information about The Natural Pet Health Co, contact the company here: The Natural Pet Health Co Michael McCulagh 44 07801 555154 admin@naturalpethealthco.com 2A Daleside, Gerrards Cross, Buckinghamshire, SL9 7JF. UK

The Natural Pet Health Co

We are a family business dedicated to supplying the finest natural supplements for pets. All our products are manufactured from the finest human grade natural ingredients, in our facility in the USA which is fully FDA compliant and GMP and NSF certified.

Website: <http://www.naturalpethealthco.com>

Email: admin@naturalpethealthco.com

Phone: 44 07801 555154

Powered by PressAdvantage.com