Melbourne, Australia. -- For the past 20 years, Daniel Henderson has been refining his skills in the motor car detailing industry. As owner of Detail Central, a supplier of superior grade car detailing products for the automotive, marine and motorcycle trade industries, Mr. Henderson has recently announced that the same high grade, trade quality car detailing products will now be made available direct to the general public.

"I thought it was high time, passionate motoring enthusiasts had access to this range of superior products ? direct from the source," said Mr. Henderson.

"Whilst these superior products have been available via some retail outlets, consumers have had no other way of gaining access, seeing we are the exclusive distributor of 6 quality brand names," noted Mr. Henderson.

Detail Central are the exclusive suppliers of HD (High Definition) Car Care. This is their main line of car care products and caters to the professional detailer whilst the range is also appealing and usable to the more advanced enthusiast and general consumer.

3D International is their more trade/bulk type of products, again more catered to the Trade or professional detailer and car washing business.

Angelwax is their premium boutique high end wax and detailing product line. This has a number of high end pro detailers using this range and is most suited for the customer that wants the best and is prepared to pay extra to have it.

Kamikaze Collection is their ceramic quartz coating line, providing Nano quartz paint technology protection. These professional grade products are now available for the consumer to purchase. Unlike the majority of other brand ceramic products available the Kamikaze Collection line is manufactured in Japan and harnesses the latest technology and coating advancements available.

Kamikaze Collection's focus is not built around marketing hype and false claims but rather the focus is on an anti-aging concept for your vehicles paint with an emphasis on the most luxurious finish available in the coating market.

This type of product is for the true enthusiast who demands not only superior paint protection, but also the best looking finish money can buy.

Woody Wax is their dedicated Marine line and is currently used by a lot of game fishing charter boats and a large number of exclusive motor yachts in the likes of the Royal Motor Yachts club in Sydney's Point Piper.

"By cutting out the expense of the retail level of the sales transaction, we are able to pass on the savings to our customers, whilst still remaining competitive and profitable," said Mr. Henderson.
