Sarah James Jazz Merch, a company based in Hoboken, NJ, is thrilled to announce the addition of Rock the Block long sleeve tee shirt to its new line of NYC graffiti tee shirts. This particular graffiti tee shirt features an edgy image that jazz singer Sarah James found on a wall in the Lower East Side NYC somewhere between 6th street and 11th street and 1st Ave. It is aptly titled "Rock the Block" because it shows a DJ, who is an extraterrestrial with seven arms busy spinning disks, effortlessly changing imagined musical styles and filling the whole neighborhood with precious beats. To take a look at the Rock the Block tee shirt, please visit <https://www.gearbubble.com/rockthebloknyc>.

What sets the Rock the Block tee shirt apart is its edge aesthetic, depicting the DJ as an alien that exudes an otherworldly charm that perfectly complements the urban scene. Behind the DJ, towering pink hi-rise buildings create a visually stunning backdrop, symbolizing the colorful tapestry of urban life.

Rock the Block is a bold and very literal depiction of street life in the summer in NYC. The DJ is a cool-looking dude who looks like he has it all together. His arms extend to manage the disks and he is totally in his element. It's a very urban scene and the DJ is in complete control of his musical world. The name of the tee shirt is Rock the Block and that is exactly what this DJ is depicted as doing in this tee shirt image. He is ?rockin? the block? or filling the whole block or neighborhood with his music beats.

Sarah James is the creative force behind Sarah James Jazz Merch, and she has curated and photographed these captivating images over the years while traversing the streets of New York City. Her keen eye for detail and deep appreciation for urban culture are evident in every design, making each tee shirt a wearable work of art.
