SANTA MONICA, CA - September 29, 2023 -
NurseRegistry, a nurse staffing agency that provides RNs and LVNs for healthcare facilities and organizations is proud to offer nurse staffing for school districts in California.

NurseRegistry offers school districts assistance supporting students with special needs services, insulin administration, and observation, management of medication, accompanying kids to and from school, providing education to the school, and management and administration of COVID-19 tests. With one of the largest networks of nurses in California, NurseRegistry can provide the appropriate support as well as follow all particular requirements outlined by each individual school district. NurseRegistry can provide nurses on a flexible basis for any student?s healthcare needs as its services for children extend beyond schools. In addition to accompanying kids to and from school, nurses can provide nursing services directly in a child?s home. This ongoing relationship and familiarity with the child can be appealing to parents and caregivers. Nurses are also able to travel between schools in a district if multiple locations require services.

?We get contacted from several school districts across the state of California for help with their nursing requirements,? says NurseRegistry's CEO, Melissa Fischer, LVN. ?NurseRegistry supports local schools and offers many additional benefits such as no upfront costs, no overtime charges, low minimum nursing hours, and flexible cancellations. We also have a very dedicated staffing team that works twenty-four-seven. All of our nurses are licensed and insured.?

Onboarding times for NurseRegistry vary on a case-to-case basis but in most cases, staffing can be provided within one to two days. The cost of hiring nurses for a school will depend on the number of nurses needed, the number of hours worked, and the type of services the school requires. When scheduling, there is a two-hour minimum and a single nurse may be able to work with multiple schools in a district.

NurseRegistry has received tremendous support from its clients for being able to provide nursing services in their time of need. The company?s website is full of testimonials from patients and families who thank the company for providing kind, caring, and professional nurses on short notice.

One client says, ?Our nurse was so sweet and caring. My son immediately felt at ease around her - I couldn?t have asked for a better visit.?
