New Century Service Moves To New Location

November 14, 2023

November 14, 2023 -
Minnesota based New Century Service (NCS) has moved to a new office in Otsego, MN. Clients are invited to stop by the company?s new premises at 5500 Queens Ave NE, Otsego, MN, 55330 to discuss any upcoming projects or air out any concerns about their home?s electrical, plumbing or HVAC systems.

The company is quick to assure the community that there will be no reduction in the availability or quality of their services. New Century Service remains committed to working with homeowners, businesses and so on to ensure all of their utilities are in top working condition. The company planned the move carefully so as to minimize downtime and ensure they would be able to respond to anyone in need, and they are pleased to confirm they were successful. From now on, service will continue as expected.

One of the main reasons that New Century Service is preferred over so many other alternatives is the fact that the company offers access to a trio of essential services: electrical, plumbing and HVAC. As a result, should an issue require multiple disciplines to resolve, clients can trust the New Century Service team to handle virtually all of it by themselves. There is no need to hire additional contractors ? or even to hope that the second party upholds a similarly high standard of quality. NCS is a one-stop contractor; they can identify and remedy all manner of concerns with no external help.

New Century Service - HVAC Contractor is no stranger to glowing reviews, and their clients have become accustomed to receiving nothing less than the team?s best on every job. This is evident in many of the comments shared about the company online.

For instance, V. Leih says, ?Our 128 unit condo is now 15 years old, and many of the residents wanted to upgrade their furnace/AC units. NCS was chosen as the preferred vendor, to do the work, by the HOA board. All of the residents of this close knit condo have been very pleased with the work in their units. NCS was on time, clean, friendly and professional. The project, from the initial resident presentation to the installation follow-up, was professionally managed.?

In many projects, big or small, there is always a chance that unforeseen problems may arise that require an adept mind to overcome. Where possible, the company aims to reduce costs, but they will also not hesitate to recommend better options if they believe there is no alternative.

The client?s review continues, ?Our furnace unit, for some reason, had some manufacturing issues. Bill Gay pulled a tech team together to evaluate the issues, and after troubleshooting the unit, it was decided to pull the unit and replace it. It was an expensive fix for NCS, but Bill wanted ?to do it right? and did a full replacement. The unit is now working beautifully. We are so pleased with these folks and their professionalism. We cannot recommend NCS highly enough. NCS are good people and definitely stand behind their product and installation.?

There is one more advantage that makes NCS the preferred contractor for all building concerns: the team is accomplished at home remodeling. While this service is available by itself (for typical home improvement goals) other types of projects may also need the surrounding structure to be adjusted or rebuilt to accommodate a planned installation. NCS can handle this in-house as well, thereby enveloping every section of a multi-part installation in a single, cohesive project.

The company is experienced at kitchen and bathroom remodeling, basement finishing and more. They are also available for a range of general home maintenance and repair services. Given the potential for such projects to make or break the value of a home, New Century Service takes this responsibility seriously, and clients can expect a frank discussion regarding their goals (as well as updates at every step) to ensure the outcome is on par with expectations.

Homeowners, business owners and others who are planning a new project are welcome to reach out to the team at New Century Service - MN HVAC, Electrical & Plumbing Contractor. NCS also offers a number of attractive financing options.
