Chicago, Illinois - September 26, 2023 -
Lane Brown, LLC, a law firm based in Chicago, IL, is encouraging individuals with personal injury cases to take advantage of the free consultation they are offering in Chicago and surrounding areas, such as Naperville. They want to emphasize that four of their lawyers have been named as Super Lawyers with two of them designated as Rising Stars. They will discuss with the potential client the details of the injuries suffered and the potential settlement. They work on a contingency basis, which means the legal fees will be a percentage of the settlement received if they are successful with the case.

The Super Lawyers designation was designed to help people recognize premier lawyers throughout the country, across a range of practice areas and firm sizes. They apply a patented selection process in choosing the Super Lawyers with the result that five percent of lawyers are designated as Super Lawyers and 2.5 percent are recognized as Rising Stars. The four lawyers in the Lane Brown firm were all chosen in the practice areas of Personal Injury and Medical Malpractice, and two of them have been recognized as Rising Stars. The Super Lawyers are: Scott 2005-2024, Mark 2010-2024, Nick 2020-2024 (Rising Star), and Kellie 2022-2024 (Rising Star).

Kellen Bachman from Lane Brown, LLC says, ?Too many accident victims are forced to cover the costs associated with injuries they suffered at the hands of an irresponsible person. When you?re already burdened by a difficult recovery, the last thing you need is to be concerned with how you?ll continue to survive with a steadily growing mountain of debt related to the accident you were involved in. At Lane Brown, LLC, a Naperville personal injury lawyer will work diligently to investigate the cause of your accident and determine who will be held liable for your injuries. We will do everything possible to secure a reasonable compensation award that will ease your financial worries.?

They want to remind clients that the amount of compensation that can be recovered will be determined by the seriousness of the injuries suffered and the impact these have made on the person?s life. In general, compensation can be expected for medical bills and any lost wages, including reduction in their earning potential. They will also take into account aspects of the victim?s life that are not related to finance, such as loss of enjoyment in life and the pain and suffering they underwent.

Launched in 1991, Lane Brown, LLC delivers personal injury law services in Chicago and neighboring areas. They are guided by the principle of always ?doing the right thing.? Their lawyers provide legal representation for people who have been injured as a result of the negligence of other people, whether it was through a medical malpractice, a car accident, a slip and fall, etc. The lawyers at the firm have a combined hands-on experience of 130 years that provides clients the advantage they require to receive the maximum amount of settlement for their particular case. Their wide network of contacts also means they can find expert witnesses for supporting the case, whenever this is needed.
