A representative for iFOAM says, "When we looked at the local insulation industry, we saw that there was a massive gap: a lack of quality and trustworthy services and a clear absence of certified training when it came to spray foam. We wanted to do our part to change that and help Knoxville residents. To this end, we are providing certified technicians with the best tools, training and products in the trade and bolstering your experience with prompt, timely communication. When you choose iFOAM, you can trust that we will do our part to make the buildings you work and live in more comfortable and energy efficient."

iFOAM of Knoxville offers a broad range of insulation services for residential and commercial clients. This includes air sealing, batt insulation, blow-in blanket, blow-in cellulose insulation, concrete lifting, insulation removal, spray foam insulation, and more. All of their services are carried out by industry experts who have years of experience with insulation services and are dedicated to providing top-quality spray foam insulation services that will meet their clients' needs and budget. The company has been in business for several years, and they have been fortunate to provide insulation services to many satisfied clients throughout the Knoxville, Tennessee area.

Residential clients can expect iFOAM to help them make their homes more comfortable to live in and also more energy-efficient. With residential services like traditional insulation, insulation removal, retrofit applications, and more, iFOAM is able to tend to the specific needs of Knoxville homeowners. For commercial clients, the idea is to properly insulate for better energy efficiency, comfort, and sustainability on a larger scale. The company points to schools, office buildings, medical centers, hotels, malls/retail stores, warehouses, distribution centers, industrial buildings, restaurants, barns/agricultural buildings, airplane hangars/airport terminals, and even multifamily housing buildings for examples of commercial sites iFOAM has worked on. The company's representative says, "We understand that not everyone is familiar with spray foam insulation, and every project is different depending on the needs of the clients. No matter the size or scope of the job, you can always rely on our technicians to take the time to explain all your options so you can make an informed decision about the products and services you choose. We do our best to make the whole process as simple and as efficient as possible, ensuring that your needs come first."

iFOAM of Knoxville is owned and operated by Knoxville residents Sean and Kylee Rivera. The pair have called Knoxville home for more than 20 years and feel blessed to be a part of this supportive community. They met at the University of Tennessee and still love to cheer on their beloved Vols. East Tennessee has been a great place to raise their family with all of the beauty of the Great Smoky Mountains and the many lakes and hiking trails. They are excited to bring the innovations and services of iFOAM to this wonderful community.

The two bring many years of sales and management experience to their iFOAM team. With careers in Logistics and Transportation as well as Medical Equipment, they have helped customers from all over East Tennessee. Being able to help customers navigate challenges, problem solve and find solutions in the fast-paced industries is where they excel. For the Riveras, there is no single template to follow for their customers. They know that each customer's needs vary and work hard to find the best solution.
