Rejuvenetix, a clinic in Scottsdale, AZ, is offering intravenous (IV) therapy, which bypasses the gastrointestinal tract and delivers nutrients and hydration directly to the bloodstream. For instance, their IV lounge Scottsdale clinic offers IV vitamin therapy for the purpose of efficiently administering vitamins, minerals, hydration and medications directly to the bloodstream. This ensures almost 100 percent absorption of the nutrients compared to just 30 to 80 percent when using oral supplements.

Jonathan H. Miller from Rejuvenetix says, "An IV drip can quickly and effectively alleviate symptoms like migraines, nausea, morning sickness, and many more, speeding up your recovery from hangovers, cold, flu, surgeries, food poisoning, inflammatory disease and many other conditions. Vitamin IV drips can also be used to enhance your overall wellness, leaving you feeling energized and rejuvenated. Our Rejuvenetix - Scottsdale Wellness Clinic is conveniently located at North 70th St & Thomas Rd in Old Town Scottsdale. So schedule your appointment today and allow us to get you back to feeling your optimal best."

Miller also wants to point out that IV vitamin therapy can help with various conditions. These include: viral infections; chemical & heavy metal toxicity; chronic fatigue, exhaustion; cold & flu; fibromyalgia, muscles/joint/body aches; hangover & migraine headaches; diabetes; prevention of atherosclerosis; decrease blood pressure; decrease LDL (bad) cholesterol; hydration; energy boost; metabolism support; weight loss; immunity support; hair, skin, and nail health boost; pain reduction; nausea help; and more.

Aside from IV vitamin therapy, their IV lounge also offers NAD⁺ IV therapy and chelation therapy. Nicotinamide adenine dinucleotide or NAD⁺ is a coenzyme that can be found in every living cell and plays a key role in maintaining healthy organs and the neurological system. Thus, NAD⁺ may help the human body to function better on the molecular level and it may also help avoid illness and signs of aging.

NAD⁺ works in two ways. First, it converts nutrients into adenosine triphosphate, which is a complex chemical that helps to drive many processes, such as chemical synthesis and muscle contraction. Second, it works with protein to perform various functions, such as DNA repair and mitochondrial function. NAD⁺ also plays a crucial role in the metabolism of fats, carbohydrates, and amino acids. While there are oral NAD supplements in the market, the absorption of NAD⁺ through the gastrointestinal tract is usually difficult. That is why NAD infusion therapy is recommended.

Meanwhile, chelation therapy employs ethylenediaminetetraacetic acid (EDTA) to attract and combine with heavy metals, such as lead, cadmium, and mercury, which are then excreted from the body through the urine. The process will usually take one to three hours. Other heavy metal poisonings that may be treated with chelation include arsenic, chromium, cobalt, aluminum, nickel, selenium, manganese, tin, thallium, and zinc. Heavy metal toxicity in humans has been found to be related to various health conditions, such as attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), Alzheimer disease, heart disease, gastrointestinal disorders (including irritable bowel syndrome, or IBS), autism, and immune system disorders.

Rejuvenetix was established to provide a personalized IV therapy experience in a comfortable and pristine environment. They also offer mobile IV therapy and aesthetic services right there in the comfort of the patient's home. Miller from Rejuvenetix says, "At Rejuvenetix, we want to help you become the best version of yourself and function optimally at the highest level! To do this, we have created a one-stop shop for our patients to avoid the hassle of seeing multiple providers for multiple problems. Our natural treatment regimen addresses the root cause of your health problems, and not just the symptoms, which sets us apart from other healthcare facilities. So, whether you want to do a complete 180 health reset or if you simply want to look and feel better, it is our inmost desire to help you obtain and maintain your optimal health. We are here to help you through your health journey."
