Perth Funeral Director Announces Pre-Paid Funerals

December 18, 2015

December 18, 2015 -
Funeral Care, a business in Maylands, Western Australia, has announced that they now offer pre-paid funerals. This is a system that ensures that those who pass away will not be causing their families to be burdened with the funeral arrangements. By planning ahead, loved ones are protected from both financial and emotional stress. Full details are available through funeralcare.com.au.

"When you pre-pay for your funeral, you actually experience a lot of benefits," says Ellie Dobson from Funeral Care. "It obviously removes a huge burden from the ones who are left behind. In addition, you also save money, because you will pay for your funeral at today's prices. Our pre-paid funeral service is proving to be a very popular option."

By expressing their wishes in advance, people save their family from the added worry of not knowing how they would want them to pay their last respects to them. The plans offered by Funeral Care are fully guaranteed contracts, which can be paid for either through installments or as a lump sum. People are encouraged to review their options through funeralcare.com.au/services and to contact the company to discuss their needs. This consultation is completely free and with no obligation.

"Some people feel it is a bit dark and morbid to think about your own funeral," says Pete T. "However, I think it is sensible. I know what I want and I know that I am going to die at some point. I want to make sure that the ones I leave behind can grieve in peace and not find themselves stressed out. I'm so happy I found the pre-paid funeral option with Funeral Care because I know my last wishes will now be fully respected. And now, it's time to enjoy the rest of my life."

The funeral directors are known for their care and compassion. They offer genuine, personal care to everyone who comes to them, be that because they have purchased a pre-paid funeral or because they have to make arrangements following the death of a loved on. They understand that, while dying is a part of life, this is a sensitive and emotional time for those left behind.
