Atlanta, Georgia - October 10, 2023 -
The Mabra Law Firm, which is based in Atlanta, GA, wants to point out that when in need of the services of a car accident attorney Decatur residents can rely on their team of professionals. This is essential because motor vehicle collisions are some of the most common injuries that people face. While victims of accidents resulting from the negligence of another individual or company are entitled to a fair compensation, filing a claim is complex and may have many twists and turns.

Ronnie Mabra, founder and managing partner of The Mabra Law Firm states, ?Auto accidents can change your life and the lives of loved ones. The emotional trauma, physical injuries, and financial hardships can be crippling without the proper legal guidance. At The Mabra Firm, our Decatur car accident lawyers provide compassionate and dedicated legal services to everyone injured in an accident around metro Decatur.?

They want to advise car accident victims in Decatur to follow a number of steps after a car collision. The first step is to call emergency services because the other person may be injured and at times, even there is no apparent pain or injury, some injuries may only become evident several hours or days later. The second step is to get treated by a doctor even if there are no apparent injuries. This can provide evidence about the injury suffered, which can be useful when filing the claim.

The third step is to get the other driver?s information and preserve the evidence of the collision. Taking photos of the scene and the vehicles may be helpful. The fourth step is to ask for important information, such as the name, address, telephone number, license plate number, and insurance firm of the other party. Such information will be needed when filing a claim with the insurance company.

The fifth step is to provide the police officer who arrives at the scene of the accident with relevant information regarding the incident. Such information will go into the police report, which may be used when filing an insurance claim. However, if the collision occurred on private property, the police have little jurisdiction. Lastly, it is advisable to hire the services of a car accident lawyer in Decatur.

Ronnie Mabra explains, ?Once you speak with your insurance company and contact The Mabra Firm, the process of a personal injury claim can begin. Initially, it starts when you file a summons, and the lawyer serves a complaint to the at-fault party. But there are a few exceptions to this, especially if multiple people are involved, resulting in a multi-vehicle accident. There is also the chance that the at-fault party is an employee who was on the job. If that is the case, your lawyer will look into whether the person has uninsured or underinsured coverage. If so, then whoever their insurance company is also served with a complaint. If the at-fault party has no insurance, you may need to file a personal injury claim with your insurance company. Most of the time, auto insurance provides you with the necessary compensation for your injuries and damages.?

There are two types of damages that may be awarded in car accident cases. These are general damages and special damages. General damages include anything that may reduce the quality of life of the accident victim, such as pain and suffering, loss of consortium, mental trauma, disfigurement, and PTSD. Special damages include damages to physical property or medical bills. These are usually easier to calculate compared to general damages.

Launched in 2007 by Ronnie Mabra, The Mabra Law Firm is always focused on delivering the best possible services to the people, the community, and the state. He has also created an excellent track record of recovering millions of dollars for his personal injury clients in the State of Georgia. The Georgia Super Lawyers magazine has also honored him as one of the premier personal injury attorneys of the State of Georgia.
