As professional roof contractors, Style Roofing brings every tool and technique required to complete any roofing job in the area. ?Roofs are designed to last several years, but you should not take it for granted that they will last forever,? states Style Roofing. ?The longevity of a roof will depend on several factors, from the materials they are constructed out of to the techniques utilized by your contractor to put it together. While this might appear to be out of your hands, the truth is you can do much to improve your new roof?s lifespan simply by doing your research before trusting your home to a contractor. With this in mind, we warmly invite you to consider us for your next roof replacement.?

The company explains that they are confident homeowners will realize they have much to gain by working with a roofing contractor with many years of experience behind them. Each member of the team is extensively trained to ensure they are up to any roofing challenge as well, and each team?s coordinator will personally supervise progress on any project to ensure it meets both the company?s and client?s highest standards.

Every roof installation begins with a thorough assessment of the client?s existing roof. In some cases, a client may wish to install a new roof simply out of a desire to upgrade its integrity or change its aesthetic, but given that roofs are a sizable investment, most will want to be sure their home truly requires a new roof before making any commitments. Style Roofing roofing contractors are all committed to doing what is best for their clients, and the assessments they provide will confirm whether or not a new roof is necessary.

Should this be the case, however, the company is pleased to provide a number of suitable options. While the company can guarantee their team will bring a high degree of proficiency to a project, it is up to the homeowner to make other decisions that will impact the longevity of their roof. The most expensive options, such as copper, slate and tile, can be used to build roofs that exceed a 50-year lifespan, but other materials are available as well. Asphalt shingle roofs, for instance, can offer a decent compromise between longevity and cost, lasting about 20 years, and this makes them a popular option across the nation.

Style Roofing goes on to say that such decisions must always be made carefully. There are many angles to consider when installing a Gainesville, VA roof, and homeowners will often need an expert?s guidance to ensure they have all the information they need. The company is proud to provide this guidance at all times, and they encourage homeowners to ask as many questions as they wish before a single action is taken.

It should further be noted that homeowners with functional roofs can take a number of steps to ensure it lasts as long as expected (if not more). It may be tempting to see a sturdy roof and assume it will never need attention again, the company acknowledges, but this is not the case. Roofs, like the rest of a home, will need periodic maintenance (or repairs), and it is advisable for homeowners not to delay a service.

Given a roof?s elevated position, it can be difficult to spot a hole or other form of degradation. This is why Style Roofing encourages the community to schedule inspections at least once a year. Inspections can uncover minor issues before they develop into serious problems, and since the team is already on site, they can rectify it immediately.

Similarly, if a leak or other problem is noticed, the team can come out and make sure it is resolved at once. This will prevent the roof from suffering further damage and requiring more costly repairs.

Style Roofing is available for all manner of roof replacement in Gainesville, VA and the surrounding areas. Homeowners may direct inquiries to the company via the official Style Roofing website. A member of the team can also be reached over the phone.
