

Indian Land Restoration Company Highlighted By Community For Top Tier Service

November 06, 2023

November 06, 2023 -
SC based SERVPRO of Indian Land, Cherokee, Union, and Chester Counties has been receiving a great deal of praise for their services. The team specializes in restoration, cleaning and construction, and their efforts have served to help numerous homeowners restore their properties to their pre-loss condition following a destructive event.

?Your home or business can fall prey to any manner of disasters,? remarks a representative from SERVPRO. ?A fire can break out and consume several rooms, for example, or a pipe can burst and drown an entire area in water, potentially leading to mold infestations down the line. At first glance, you may be tempted to believe that there is no coming back from such events, but we are here to assure you that this is not necessarily the case. Call SERVPRO today to give your property its best chance of recovery.?

One of the primary reasons the company is considered the first point of contact following any type of extensive damage is the sheer scope of services they are capable of offering. For instance, despite the fact that most may be familiar with the company as a restoration expert, some may be unaware that the team is often involved in construction and remodeling projects as well. This means many customers can entrust every stage of a project to the company instead of having to coordinate between multiple contractors.

As a result, a home that experiences water damage can summon the SERVPRO team to perform a full restoration. While discussing the best steps to take, especially if mold remediation is required, the homeowner may decide this is a good opportunity to remodel the property in some way, at which point the team will be happy to share suggestions and recommendations (provided there are no other concerns). Both restoration and remodeling will be done exactly as the owner expects. The same is true for the other types of damage the company is able to deal with.

Customers may even make use of the company?s general cleaning services if they so wish. The team works on both residential and commercial properties, cleaning carpets, drapes, floors, upholstery and more.

S. McKenna, a customer, explains why they decided to go with SERVPRO in their review. The review says, ?After receiving an astronomical quote from a competitor, the ServoPro Indian Land team resolved all my issues with a cost-effective solution. They were on-time, professional, and exceeded my expectations with the quality of their work. They will be my first call for any flood, fire or mold issues in the future! I highly recommend it.?

This is far from the company?s only glowing review, and they are pleased to acknowledge that the community has elected to award their efforts a full 5-Star rating on their Google profile. The company?s most recent reviews also span several months and are full of details regarding their approach to various aspects of their work, from pricing to technical capability, customer service and beyond. Those interested in getting work done on their property are welcome to browse this feedback to see why they should also place their trust in SERVPRO.

A common point among these reviews, for instance, refers to the fact that the company is adept at minimizing a customer?s stress no matter how dire their situation may be. Many in the community attest that it is comforting to have a team of professionals on hand who are clearly experienced in their roles and have all the tools they need to satisfactorily complete a job. Given the types of damage the team is typically called to handle, these are invaluable traits that directly benefit the customer in both the short and long term.

Customers across South Carolina may contact SERVPRO of Indian Land, Cherokee, Union, and Chester Counties today to inquire about their offerings. The company will be pleased to provide water damage restoration, fire damage restoration, construction, and specialty cleaning services, among many others.

The team can be reached over the phone, via email. SERVPRO maintains a 24-Hour Emergency Service for customers in need of immediate assistance.
