October 24, 2023

October 24, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Innovatus Projects, a construction company based in Wollongong, NSW, Australia, is happy to announce they are offering office, heavy industry, medical and commercial chain fit-outs in Wollongong and neighbouring areas. They will provide a dedicated project team for all of their projects to help with the administration and completion of the project. The project manager will ensure that all pre- and post-project tasks are accomplished when they need to be, that Work Health Safety & Environmental requirements are complied, and more.

Nick Halakatevakis, Director at Innovatus Projects, says, "As part of our process it is our responsibility to manage the delivery time frame of the project, quality of the works, workers health safety and environmental issues during the project. We also assist with all project certifications and approvals and if required we can also assist in the design of your space with one of our design partners. At competition we also provide training on all new equipment and provide you 18 months warranty period."

Innovatus Projects offers various kinds of services. These include: design and construct, workplace fitouts, early contractor involvement (ECI), and an open book approach. They provide a design and construct service approach to streamline the process of transforming an idea into a reality. They have curated a team of the top designers in the industry and they will always ensure a perfect match between designer and the client's project.

Innovatus Projects also offers workplace fitouts, which is based on how they will be taking care of the client. They aim to facilitate the fit-out and refurbishment projects of various sizes and scales. Nick Halakatevakis explains, "Our aim is to create a stress-free experience for them by liaising with the complex stakeholders directly, resulting in you (the client) being free to focus on the excitement of your fit-out. We offer complete construction management and we value engineer every project to ensure the best value is being delivered to our clients.?

Meanwhile, the quality of the workmanship and services provided by Innovatus Projects has been attested to by the five star reviews they have been receiving. Currently, they have an overall rating of 5.0 out of 5 stars on Google and in a recent review, Patricia M. gave them a five star rating and said, "Nick and the team at Innovatus projects have been so professional, responsive, prompt and helpful. They have completed 2 fitouts for us - we are very happy with both the high quality fitout and the interactions with Nick and the team. I would recommend them for any projects and look forward to working together in the near future.?"

Innovatus Projects also offers the ECI approach to clients who are ready to enhance their space but are not yet sure as to its most valuable potential. They will take part in the project planning and design from the early stages and offer cost estimation, constructability, programming, and risk management input without compromising the purpose of the design. The resulting information and the advice provided by their team will fully mitigate decision-making risk.

They can also offer the verified open book model that provides the client complete access to subcontractor quotes and invoicing. They also offer subcontractor statutory declarations that state the trades are performing the tasks for the tendered amount. Innovatus Projects will offer at least three recommendations as to why contractors should be used and they will go through them with the client.

Founded in 2017, Innovatus Projects is a construction company focused on creating office spaces that improve emotions, boost productivity, and subconsciously provide an amazing experience for users. They aim to create both function and enjoyment within office, government, healthcare, and workspace environments. Nick Halakatevakis says, "Innovatus Projects is your specialist for office/workplace fitouts, medical fitouts, industrial fitouts, building refurbishments, construction & challenges. We recognise the power of modernising a work environment to enrich the collaborative process and inspire the leaders of tomorrow.?"
