

Atlanta Personal Injury Lawyer Recommends Quick Professional Consultation for Injured Parties

October 31, 2023

Atlanta, Georgia - October 31, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Atlanta's esteemed Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. is advising locals to promptly consult a legal expert if they suffer an injury. Given the firm's extensive experience across Georgia, they emphasize the importance of time when considering compensation. The firm offers its vast knowledge and comprehensive support in achieving fair settlements.

A primary reason they emphasize immediate consultation is the potential unawareness of victims about their rights post-injury. Insurance companies, aiming to minimize payouts, bank on this unawareness. A knowledgeable injury attorney, however, can discern if compensation is due and can fiercely advocate for the client's rightful claim.

Insurance companies aim to maintain profit margins, which means limiting claims. Hence, victims should not mistakenly think that insurers are necessarily on their side. This is a known tactic in the insurance world.

Nugent states, "Acting fast is crucial as we need all evidence related to the injury incident. With time, evidence can be lost or damaged. Once you consult us, we guide you on potential compensation and fight diligently to get you what's rightfully yours by law."

He also warns victims to refrain from discussing the incident with others, including insurance agents or police, before consulting their attorney, as it could be used against their claim.

While many lawyers offer these services, Kenneth S. Nugent's firm stands out due to its foundational principles. The firm believes in making legal aid accessible to all, offering free initial consultations and not charging for injury cases until they reach a verdict or settlement. This enables everyone to access high-quality legal advice, irrespective of their financial situation.

Understanding the general public's unfamiliarity with legal processes, Nugent's team simplifies the journey for their clients. They guide them through every aspect of recovery, be it legal, medical, financial, or emotional. The firm ensures all related paperwork, like insurance documents and court forms, is taken care of.

They also have two lawyers who used to work on the defense side of injury litigation. This offers them unique insights into the tactics that the insurance company might try to use against clients.

Every case is different, and no law firm can guarantee what the outcome of a case will be. However, injury victims can often greatly increase the amount of their compensation by hiring the right law firm. One way to determine which law firm should represent them is to look at the attorneys' track record of results. A second
