Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Valdosta, GA is keen to help car accident victims get the compensation they deserve. The firm has made it their business to protect the rights of clients who were put in harm?s way due to the actions of other motorists. All are welcome to contact the firm today to schedule a free initial consultation.

As a Valdosta car accident lawyer, Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. has a great deal of experience dealing with collisions on the road. The team has seen it all, from simple fender benders to accidents involving several vehicles at the same time, and they have long worked side by side with clients to ensure insurance companies and other parties are made to live up to their responsibilities. In fact, the firm strongly advises car accident victims to get in touch with their top Valdosta attorney before they talk to insurance adjusters or anyone else.

?Your first course of action following an accident should be to confirm that your health is not at further risk,?

comments Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. ?We advise all our clients to do this for a number of reasons, not the least of which is their safety and well-being. When you seek professional medical care, this creates a paper trail that can be used as evidence of the impact your accident has had on you. Receiving treatment should be your top priority, for yourself as well as your case. After that, we invite you to visit our office for a consultation.?

The firm notes that their policy is to visit clients themselves in the event the latter is unable to travel. Given their commitment to the community, Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. makes it a point to dispatch an attorney to the client when required, a service that may prove useful in several cases (such as where bed rest is mandated by the doctor). The firm typically aims to schedule this visit within two days of being notified.

Under no circumstances should anyone involved with an accident speak to an insurance adjuster or other representative until they have consulted with their lawyer. This is due to the fact that an accident victim?s statement may be used against them, potentially harming their claim and reducing the compensation they will receive. Similarly, should the insurer offer to provide a settlement immediately, the firm advises victims to decline to respond without an attorney present ? a quick settlement may be used by insurers to limit the amount they ultimately have to pay out.

These strategies are not the only reason accident victims should avoid attempting to pursue a claim alone. In addition to being forced to deal with all the bureaucracy and legal hurdles without qualified assistance, they are unlikely to understand the full extent of compensation they would be entitled to under the law.

Most may proceed under the assumptions that they are only entitled to (or only need) compensation for damages suffered in the moment. This could include vehicle repairs, medical bills from recent hospital visits and so on. However, there are numerous factors that need to be considered to determine exactly how much an individual may have lost as a result of an accident.

Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. may check whether the client is expected to need further medical assistance in the future, how long they have been unable to go to work because their only mode of transport was unavailable (or they were unable to drive), whether the injury is extensive enough that they will never be able to return to the same job and so on. All of this is necessary to build a strong case and obtain compensation that accurately reflects the harm sustained by the victim.

Local residents are invited to contact Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Valdosta today to schedule a free initial consultation and learn what their options may be. Should the client elect to move forward with a claim, the firm will be pleased to handle the entire auto accident case on their behalf.
