Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Duluth, GA is helping patients pursue compensation for suffering that occurred as a result of medical malpractice. Those who believe their doctor or healthcare provider?s negligence caused them harm (or even the death of a loved one) are urged to reach out to their local medical malpractice lawyer today to begin building a case.

Despite the fact that all medical procedures are known to carry some risk, every patient should understand that they have the right to receive the best care possible. There are many procedures and protocols that healthcare professionals are obliged to follow in order to ensure the best possible outcome for the vulnerable people in their care, and failure to do so can have catastrophic consequences.

Patients who have fallen victim to a doctor?s negligence, incorrect diagnosis, mixed-up results, a surgeon?s exhaustion and more may be able to seek compensation after the fact. The firm strongly advises the community to seek advice from an attorney who specializes in such cases since this is often the best way to ensure they will be able to pay for proper treatment (at a trusted medical professional that the firm can also recommended, if the client desires) as well as other damages that may have been incurred.

One major reason that patients should seek legal representation is the fact that it can be extraordinarily difficult to collect evidence of medical malpractice. There are certain thresholds that need to be met for an action to be considered negligent (or even malicious), and healthcare institutions are notorious for not cooperating with investigations if not legally obliged to. A lawyer with experience in the field, however, can ensure no stone is left unturned, and they can guide a client?s case to a successful, satisfactory outcome.

In all the testimonials the firm has received, one aspect of their approach is always clear: the team makes it their business to actively fight on a client?s behalf no matter how small or complicated a case may be. This is due to the firm?s belief that everyone is entitled to comprehensive legal representation to ensure their rights are honored, and this has also propelled many cases to a satisfactory outcome. At Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C., every client receives nothing less than the team?s best effort.

L. Gordon shares, ?I can't say enough just how thankful I am to have had the Ken Nugent law firm fight for me. My case manager, Connor Vaughan, was so patient, understanding, supportive and thorough in explaining all the steps throughout the process and the estimated time frame each step would take. He took the time to outline all the info I'd need and walked me through how to do it step by step. When I didn't understand something, he was very considerate and metaphorically held my hand and walked me through it over and over and over again without it seeming to bother him at all.?

The firm says this is the standard experience every client should expect when they choose to partner with an attorney at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. Since few are likely to understand the legal intricacies surrounding their case, the firm considers it their duty to ensure clients are able to ask as many questions as they need. In turn, this enables them to make informed decisions about their case, backed by the firm?s own recommendations. This is especially important when medical malpractice is suspected.

The client says later in their review, ?Overall, I feel like I had an A-team on my side walking me through this whole process. Couldn't want a better team representing me. Thank you all for helping me and my family (my 3-year-old son says it best: ?one call, that's all?). Thanks to the Ken Nugent law firm for coming through and doing right by us in our time of hurt and need.?

Medical malpractice cases can sometimes involve time-sensitive evidence that cannot be collected past a certain period, so patients are advised to contact their Duluth lawyer today to start building a case. Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. never further than a single phone call away, and the team can even visit a client within 48 hours if the need should arise.
