

Albany Lawyer Helps Medical Malpractice Victims Get Fair Compensation

November 07, 2023

November 07, 2023 -
Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Albany would like to reach out to victims of medical malpractice who wish to pursue compensation for their pain. The firm has helped the community sue and secure compensation in countless cases involving medical malpractice and is currently looking to help more people fight for their rights as victims in court.

Given the fact that medical errors almost always result in serious complications, the cost of rectifying the error may exceed the initial procedure itself. With the help of a medical malpractice law firm, winning a medical malpractice case is not only possible but very likely, and this can assure a client?s ability to fund their recovery.

A medical care provider can be said to have committed malpractice if they fail to follow all established policies and procedures or if they do not maintain a certain standard of care and expertise. While many cases are as simple as proving that an injury is the result of malpractice on the part of a medical practitioner, some can be incredibly complex, requiring a skilled medical malpractice lawyer.

Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C.?s personal injury attorneys are fully aware that the period immediately after any unanticipated medical injury can be difficult, both emotionally and physically. Therefore, they strive to make the process of upholding the rights of their clients as stress-free as possible.

Some of the more common instances of medical negligence in Albany include diagnostic errors or missed diagnoses, surgical mistakes, birth-related harm and more, all of which require the skills and knowledge of a qualified medical malpractice lawyer to uncover. A lawyer who is experienced in the field will know how and why a particular medical practitioner?s conduct may be considered malpractice, and more crucially, they will understand how to prove before a court that the patient was injured as a result of a medical practitioner's misconduct.

?The compensation you get can help you deal with a major physical injury or the sudden death of a loved one, even if no amount of money can make up for medical misconduct,? says the law firm. ?However, don?t expect your healthcare facility or provider to acknowledge a duty violation. It is crucial to see one of our malpractice attorneys as soon as you think mistakes may have been made since there may be deadlines that must be respected. You only have two years from the time that your damage was discovered if you were the victim of medical misconduct to make a personal injury claim.?

During the process of litigation, clients are invited to get to know everyone at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. who may be involved in their case. Clients are treated like family, meaning they are kept informed of everything that is happening through every step of the litigation process. Once a client gets in touch, the team will begin gathering evidence, following which they will submit a claim in writing against one or more of the parties involved in order to begin the process of litigation.

The firm has worked on cases involving all kinds of personal injury from accidents to medical malpractice and even wrongful death. Over the years, the Kenneth S. Nugent P.C. team?s commitment to helping people get the compensation they need has earned them glowing recommendations from the community at large.

An excerpt from a review by D. Humphrey states, ?I would like to thank the team that worked on my case for myself and my daughter. Alton Josey, Michael Ruder, Cynthia Moultrie and everyone else who played a part. Thank you all from the bottom of my heart. Questions were always answered in detail and in a timely manner, and you all kept me informed every step of the way.?
