November 07, 2023 -
Kenneth S. Nugent P.C. is helping clients in Columbus and across Georgia get compensated for their pain and suffering caused by the negligence of medical professionals.

The Institute of Medicine estimates that, every year, medical malpractice claims 98,000 lives across the United States. In addition to the deaths brought on, more patients sustain injuries. When individuals and families have been victimized by nursing and medical blunders, hospital negligence, doctor malpractice, nursing home abuse, and lab errors, they can turn to the experienced legal team at Kenneth S. Nugent P.C. to build a case for themselves and hold the party at fault liable for their suffering.

?Medical malpractice cases are complex to build and fight,? says the spokesperson for Kenneth S. Nugent P.C. ?Sometimes malfeasance is readily apparent such as equipment left inside a patient during surgery. In other cases, it is really about understanding the medical diagnosis process and finding flaws in the steps taken by medical professionals that directly caused the pain, or in the worst cases, death of the victim. It takes experienced legal teams with years of litigation behind them to create a compelling case that can sway a judge to rule in the plaintiff?s favor.?

Some of the reasons why doctors, nurses, and other medical professionals might be held liable for negligence include failure to recognize a medical issue that increases the risk to the patient?s life, surgical errors, hospital infections, mistakes made by anesthesiologists, nurses, doctors, and healthcare professionals, emergency room negligence, abuse and neglect in nursing homes, medication mistakes, violating accepted medical standards, unjustified death, and ignorance about living wills and advanced medical directives.

The spokesperson urges patients who suspect they have been on the receiving end of medical malpractice to seek a qualified attorney by saying, ?You have the complete right to get compensated for your physical pain, loss of income, inability to adequately perform your job, mental anguish, and excessive medical bills. With an experienced attorney on your side, you have the best chance of exposing the negligence that has caused you and your family immense suffering.?

Kenneth S. Nugent P.C. has demonstrated its ability to get favorable outcomes for its clients over 25 years at 9 locations in Georgia. The law firm even boasts a stellar overall rating of 4.5 out of 5.0 on its Google Business Profile from over 1600 reviews. Clients thank the team at the Georgia personal injury law firm for offering skilled and pertinent legal representation, their compassionate customer service, and the support they provide during a tumultuous time in their clients? lives.

A recent review says, ?Mr. Sterling kept me informed every step of the way and was very patient with me as well. I asked a lot of questions and sometimes it seemed like I was repeating myself but he was patient and explained everything to me. I was well-informed about what was going on and how he was proceeding with my case. Eventually, he was able to get me the money he had been hoping for without having to go to court. As I said he was always kind and courteous to me.?

Another client writes, ?Last April I was in a bad car wreck after being pushed off the highway by a semi. Immediately I called Ken Nugent?s office. From the 1st call to the end of my case, Matthew, Nicole, Micheal Ruder, and his team worked diligently to see that I received not only the best medical care but that I was taken care of. Tirelessly they worked, not just on the legal aspects, but were compassionate on my PTSD. They truly are the mythical unicorns of law firms, they put my well-being ahead of lining their pockets, I Would give them 10 stars if I could. Their slogan of "1 Call That's All" is TRUTH.?
