November 08, 2023 -
Valdosta medical malpractice law firm Kenneth S. Nugent P.C. represents patients who have suffered an injury or have passed away due to the mistakes made by hospitals, doctors, or surgeons dispensing medical care.

Medical malpractice covers any errors made by hospital staff, nurses, doctors, lab workers, pharmacists, and other medical professionals working in operating rooms, pharmacies, medical labs, and emergency departments across the nation. As the stakes are high, mistakes made by these professionals can lead to terrible consequences such as death, permanently disabling injuries, and excruciating suffering for the victims and their families.

?Healthcare providers in Georgia are mandated to exercise a reasonable level of expertise and care,? says the spokesperson for Kenneth S. Nugent P.C. ?However, despite the care taken by those in charge, according to the Institute of Medicine, medical malpractice claims 98,000 lives each year across the United States. If you have been in a situation where you feel that serious medical errors have resulted in life-threatening injuries, or worse, a loss of life, it is important to seek representation from a qualified medical malpractice attorney who specializes in fighting for patients? rights.?

Sometimes medical malfeasance can be easy to spot. This includes surgical instruments left within a patient after surgery. Physicians may also mistakenly operate on the incorrect body area due to a miscommunication or a failure in the onboarding process. At Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C., the law firm?s attorneys have experience assisting individuals and families who have been victimized by nursing and medical blunders, hospital negligence, doctor?s malpractice, nursing home abuse, lab errors, and more.

?Due to the unique conditions, each case is distinct,? says the spokesperson. ?That is why you should contact our firm?s knowledgeable medical malpractice attorneys right away. Our attorneys will review and assess your claim based on two concrete factors. The first, a disregard for the required level of care and second, proof that the patient?s damage or death was directly related to the medical care given or withheld.?

Kenneth S. Nugent P.C. has been repeatedly lauded by its clients for delivering helpful and compassionate legal advice in their time of need. On its Atlanta Google Business Profile, the law firm even boasts a stellar overall rating of 4.5 out of 5.0 from over 1600 reviews. Clients praise the law firm for the relevant and timely legal representation offered by its skilled attorneys, their responsive customer service, and the tangible results they are able to get.

A recent review says, ?By far, the best attorney's office ever. From the beginning, once you contact them, these guys work with you and it actually feels like they care about you and not the money. My case worker, Miss Tawanda Sheffield was checking up on me regularly and assuring me that my case was being handled well. She was the most professional attorney representative I have ever talked to. When I didn't understand anything, these guys would easily explain it to me. At the very end, they sent me a personal letter thanking me for doing business with them. Believe me, you won't go wrong if you hire them, and be sure that you will have a positive outcome about your case.?

Another client says, ?I cannot express enough how pleasant it was to work with Attorney Matthew Richardson and his team. He made it such a comfortable space and was open to any and all questions/concerns. He fought well for me alongside their newest addition James Berrigan in our mediation and was able to settle our case with much more ease than expected. I recommend Ken Nugent?s practice for any personal injury inquiries and if you can get your hands on Matthew or James, you?re in luck! Walked away feeling nothing but blessed. They definitely treat you like a person and not at all like a walking dollar sign.?
