November 13, 2023 -
Quiet Bounce, a company based in Houston, TX, wants to point out that it is possible to get a quiet basketball that doesn?t make loud noises while dribbling, allowing the player to train or practice at home without causing anyone to complain about the dribbling noises. Quiet Bounce is offering the authentic indoor foam basketball that creates minimal noise while bouncing on the floor as opposed to regular basketballs. This indoor foam basketball is suitable for practicing indoors without disturbing family members and neighbors.

The Quiet Bounce? Silent Basketball 2.0 - Indoor Basketball has been gaining in popularity and has been receiving five star reviews from customers. A spokesperson for Quiet Bounce says, ?You can experience basketball like never before - without a sound. With its perfectly balanced weight distribution and precisely engineered curve, a basketball enthusiast can have an unmatched silent basketball experience. With the QBounce, it is possible to play without disturbing other family members, allowing one to play without interruptions.

The Quiet Bounce? Silent Basketball 2.0 has been gaining a lot of highly positive reviews from athletes, coaches, parents. For instance, Coach Anderson gave the Silent Basketball a five star rating and said, ?Didn?t anticipate the impact this ball would have. With QBounce, my players can train anywhere, anytime without the disruptive noise. It mirrors the feel of our regular game ball, but its quietness offers opportunities for drills during times previously unthinkable. A significant enhancement to our training regimen.?

Patricia Johansen, a parent, also gave the QBounce a five star rating. She said, ?Never imagined this ball could be so game-changing for my child. With this silent basketball, they can practice in the living room, even late at night, without those disruptive sounds. It feels just like their regular game ball, but the quietness means they can dribble when we?d typically ask them to stop. It?s truly elevated their game.?

The QBounce is an indoor foam basketball, which is available in three sizes: size 7, size 5, and size 3. The size 7 basketball has a circumference of 29.5 inches and weighs 22 ounces. The size 5 basketball has a circumference of 27.5 inches and weighs 17 ounces. The size 3 basketball has a circumference of 22 inches and weighs 10 ounces.

Meanwhile, Jalen Jones, a Division 1 NCAA athlete, gave the QBounce a five star rating and said, ?Never thought this ball would make such a difference. QBounce lets me practice anywhere, anytime without the loud bounces. It feels just like my game ball, but the silence of it has allowed me to dribble at a time I usually would never be dribbling? Definitely a boost for my game.?

The QBounce is also safe to use indoors because it is made from soft foam material. It is perfect for younger players but it is suitable for all ages. Currently, they are offering a free wall hoop for every purchase of two QBounce silent basketballs.

In a recent review, Fay C. gave them five stars and said, ?Came very fast, ball bounces good, and replicates a real ball very well. Would recommend.? In another review, Amina D. also gave them five stars and said, "This quiet basketball is a game changer for apartment dwellers like me.?

Quiet Bounce also wants to emphasize that their QBounce silent basketball is a soft foam basketball that is durable and lightweight and has an easy to grasp surface. In another customer review, Asa S. also gave the QBounce a five star rating and said, ?Silent basketball - stress-free practice. I?m more focused than ever.? Meanwhile, Jaren W. also gave the QBounce five stars and said, ?Great to practice dribbling at home without disturbing the family or neighbors.?
