Brad has 10 years of experience as a professional photographer. He offers several services including memorial videos, maternity sessions, engagement photos, wedding photography, senior class photos, portrait photography, special events photography, pet portrait photography, couples, and family photography, and anything else that requires any type of custom photo or video work.

?The sky is the limit,? says Brad. ?Whether I?m making memorial videos for families that have lost loved ones or photographing couples moving on to the next phase of their beautiful relationship, I have the experience to capture my clients at their most heartfelt moments and turn them into photographs and videos that their loved ones will appreciate for a lifetime. All my images are professionally scanned at the highest quality possible and these videos are made at 5K resolution which looks stunning and very sharp! These videos also have any music or songs anyone could ever want. I also do professional audio editing. I am always on a journey to constantly up the production of my output and push the quality of my work higher than it has ever been. The main camera that Brad Stein uses is the amazing Canon EOS R3. He primarily uses this camera for photos. However, it also captures 4K video. His secondary camera is the Canon R5C. This camera is a cinematic video beast being able to shoot 8K Raw video. It is Brad?s go-to camera for any video/film work. He also shoots 85% of his video and film projects on a stabilizing gimbal, the RS3 Prom which is next level when it comes to professional videography.

He also uses several professional lenses for his photo and video work including the Canon RF 70-200mm f/2.8 L IS USM, one of his all-time favorite lenses which is extremely versatile and extremely sharp, Canon RF 85mm f/1.2 L, one of the best lenses on the market to capture stunning portraits, and the Canon RF 15-35mm f/2.8 L IS USM to capture beautiful sharp images with a dramatic wide angle.

Brad Stein has earned the love and admiration of his clients who praise him for capturing their most intimate moments in a great light for friends and family to cherish. The Twin Falls, ID, professional photographer also boasts a perfect 5.0 out of 5.0 rating on his Google Business profile with customers noting how easy Brad is to work with, his skill with the camera, his affordable rates, and the quick and responsive customer service in all business matters.

A recent review says, ?We had an absolutely incredible photo shoot with Brad and we are thrilled with the photos we received! He worked with my daughter on her own vision and inspiration for her senior photos and WOW did he execute! He had so many poses, lighting ideas, and creative concepts, and together the result was perfection! He made her feel very comfortable and confident in front of the camera and she liked that there were multiple locations and outfit changes so she had a variety to choose from. His rates were also very affordable for such high-quality photography. I highly recommend Brad Stein Media and will treasure our photos for a lifetime!!?

Another client writes in their 5-star review, ?Brad did such an amazing job and captured every moment that was special to me and my husband on our perfect day! Brad and his girlfriend are the sweetest couple and they made the whole experience so fun! He did a wonderful job capturing everything I wanted and these photos turned out gorgeous! I really look forward to working with Brad again!?
