Slavin Home Improvements wants to point out that as roofers in Manchester CT they offer solutions that do not only focus on the roof, but also on the gutters. The company is a roof replacement specialist that is local, which means they are familiar with the weather patterns and the typical factors that may cause damage to the roof, including strong winds that are common in Connecticut. Meanwhile, the average rain in Connecticut is 4.2 inches, particularly during the month of March, which is why homes in the area also need to have dependable gutters to direct the water away from the home when it rains. That is why they also provide gutter repair or installation.

Zak Slavin says, ?If you?re like most homeowners, the only time you pay attention to gutters is during the installation process. Gutters require maintenance because over time, they deteriorate. Many things could damage a gutter system. Outside elements, age, and even poor workmanship result in faulty gutters.?

The trained roofing experts at Slavin Home Improvement have experienced the impact of the outside elements on the roof and on gutters. Manchester is usually visited by strong hurricane winds. Furthermore, during winter, snow can accumulate on the roof and interfere with drainage. They want to emphasize that there are certain indications of the need for gutter repair. These include: leaking gutters; pools of water around the foundation because water should be flowing away from the foundation instead of being around it; gutters that are sagging or pulling away as a result of the water that has accumulated in the gutters; peeling paint; and gutters that are too old.

They can also provide quality gutter protection services. They can provide gutter guards that prevent the accumulation of leaves and other debris in the gutters that may cause them to get clogged.

Meanwhile, the Manchester CT roofers company has a team or professionals who can provide roof repair or replacement in the area. They encourage homeowners and other property owners to have their roof checked because a damaged roof has to be repaired as soon as possible or the damage can become more serious and will cost more to repair. In addition, a leaking roof could be the reason of chipping or peeling paint on the walls. Holes in the roof can mean higher energy consumption and more costly energy bills. And a sagging roof may eventually result into the collapse of the roof, which may then require a roof replacement.

They can supply top quality roofing materials from GAF and Owens Corning. GAF offers Timberline HD shingles, which can provide the roof with a realistic feel. Each GAF shingles is made up of several layers to make sure that it is durable and can survive even harsh conditions. Owens Corning shingles are known for their durability as a result of Owens Corning?s SureNail technology. SureNail technology can ensure there are no installation errors and early roof problems. Furthermore, Owens Corning shingles are available in unique colors, such as Colonial Slate, Aged Copper, and more.
