January 08, 2024 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Resilient Films Studios LLC, an independent film studio based in the United States, is delighted to announce that they have officially launched their global division, and are celebrating their new partners for their worldwide venture. The company has worked on a number of high-profile projects over the years, as have their new partners, and they are now envisioning new and unique movie theater experiences with their collaborators to engage more clients for their rapid growth.

The recent launch of Resilient Films Studios LLC, which took place alongside the addition of the company's new partners, is indicative of their new vision: to become a global, premium, independent film production company. They're now on the path to becoming a globally recognized entity in the world of film production, design, and fine art design service, collaborating with new partners and aims to achieve these goals in the near future.

The company's values can be spelled out with the acronym CREATE. C stands for the company's commitment to creating unique, memorable films. As an independent film production company, Resilient Films Studios LLC strives to produce high quality films even on very limited budgets. To this end, the company works with creative individuals who are committed to their craft. R refers to the team's ongoing research regarding opportunities for collaboration. It describes the company's commitment to finding talented, experienced individuals to work with.

The company is also always looking for new and creative ways to fund film projects. The E in the acronym stands for "Explore avenues for funding your project," and represents the company's commitment to helping filmmakers get the funding they need, to see their projects reach completion. A refers to the company's art and design production capabilities, including their total practical potential as a film studio.

T stands for "Teaser reels created uniquely for you," where filmmakers can expect teaser reels made specifically for their projects.

Finally, the final E stands for "Enjoy your entire experience with us" and represents Resilient Films Studios LLC's commitment to ensuring that the film production process is a pleasant and memorable experience.

Resilient Film Studios LLC has worked with a number of high-profile clients, including a number of famous names in the entertainment industry. First on their list of featured clients is Jimmy Adrian Velarde, an accomplished director of photography, producer, and director. He has over 30 years of experience and has been nominated for (and won) a long list of Emmy awards. The client has worked on "The Late Night Show with James Corden," "Real Time with Bill Maher" and a number of other popular shows.

Velarde has worked on many Resilient Films projects, including his current project entitled "Land of Thousand Dances." The project description says, "Slated to Produce and Direct by Jimmy Adrian Velarde, written by Eugene "Geno" Escarrega. The true story of Cannibal & The Headhunters, the 1960's Chicano group from East LA, that scores a national hit with "Land of a Thousand Dances," while barely out of high school. On the personal request of Sir Paul McCartney, they quickly find themselves opening for The Beatles on a two-week U.S. tour that begins at Shea Stadium and culminates at The Hollywood Bowl."

It continues, "The band begins at Lincoln High School and is discovered and nurtured by Rampart Records label founder Eddie Davis, who plows the profits from his successful restaurants into championing Mexican American musicians and singers and their pioneering "East Side Sound.""

Resilient Film Studios LLC's list of clients is extensive and always growing. As they collaborate with new partners and continue to expand, the film production company will keep connecting with well-known industry professionals. This will allow the company to work on bigger and better projects while also promoting their own film projects.

Another one of the company's projects is "Confessions," also involving Jimmy A. Verdade (Producer and Director of Photography). The film's plot summary says, "After committing a sin in heaven, an angel (a former Spanish conquistador) is banished, and he must roam the earth until fulfilling his penance, which is to compel sinners to carry out a penance of their own - to right their wrongs and cleanse their souls. The fallen angel has been earthbound for 500 years, attempting to get back to heaven to reunite with his wife. Initially, he contacts sinners by using the one thing they all possess: a phone."

Resilient Films Studios LLC warmly invites the community of film critics, creators and audiences to get in touch, if they have any further inquiries regarding their plans or work. Further details regarding their published projects and more can be found here: Our Resilient Films.
