Estes Park, Colorado - November 22, 2023 -

Way Finder Cleaning in Estes Park, CO, has recently published a blog post that offers comprehensive tips for residential property cleaning for the fall season. They want to stress the importance of season-specific tasks such as roof inspections, gutter cleaning, and deep interior cleaning. They have included practical advice to creating an effective schedule, decluttering, and focusing on both outdoor and indoor areas. They also want to emphasize the advantages of cleaning during the autumn season to prepare homes for the holiday and winter season.

Brittany Wild, founder and owner of Way Finder Cleaning, says, "The leaves are falling, and the weather is cooling down, which means it's time to start thinking about fall property maintenance. One of the most important things you can do to prepare your home for the winter months is to clean your gutters and downspouts. Clogged gutters can lead to water damage, so it's important to remove any debris that has accumulated over the summer. You can do this yourself or hire a professional. Either way, make sure to add this task to your fall property cleaning checklist."

It is vital to check the roof and gutters to ensure there is no damage before the winter season begins. This will prevent any further damage to the home during the cold winter months. It is also a good time to declutter the home to prepare for the busy holiday season when there are usually a lot of guests. They offer a number of tips on decluttering. First of all, it is a good idea to focus on one room at a time. Decluttering the entire home all at once might be too large a task and cause frustration. Second, it is advisable to create a plan of action. Third, set a timer and get rid of as much stuff as possible in that particular time frame. Fourth, anything that has not been used in the previous year or longer ought to be eliminated. Lastly, it is vital to remember that decluttering the house is a process that will require some time and patience.

They also recommend a number of steps to deep clean the home. These include: starting at the top - ceiling fans, lighting fixtures, and windowsills; not forgetting the little things such as cleaning the oven, fridge and microwave oven; decluttering; and cleaning the outside area too such as raking the leaves, washing windows, and cleaning the gutters.

It is also advisable to establish a cleaning schedule. First of all, create a list of the areas of the house that have to be cleaned. Second, begin with the most important areas such as the rooms that are used most often by kids. Third, ensure that external parts of the home are cleaned. Fourth, make a realistic schedule. Finally, ensure that there are sufficient supplies for the cleaning tasks.

Brittany Wild says, "Here are some tips to help you get started: start with the basics - dusting, vacuuming, and mopping all surfaces; don't forget about those hard-to-reach places - ceiling fans, light fixtures and baseboards; give your windows a good cleaning - inside and out; declutter and organize your closets, cupboards, and storage areas; and finally, add some seasonal touches - fresh flowers, scented candles or a festive wreath for your front door."
